Shalom laYehudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It's the evening of the 2nd day, yud bes beTammuz, tav-shin-ayin-beh, Parashas Balak, the evening of the 1st day, Sunday, 28 June 2015, webcasting from the land of the people that dwells alone.

This is the week of Parashat Balak in which the gentile prophet – Jews recognize the existence of other prophets who can speak the words of G-d – looks out from a high promontory just over the Jordan River at the million-plus Children of Israel encamped below in the plains of Moav and says, “This will be a people that dwells alone and not be counted among the nations.”

Interesting coincidences here in this regard. Just yesterday, we read Parashas Khukas which contains the most stunning flash forward in the Torah, a leap in time of forty years between verses to the last year of the wilderness generation when Miriam dies and Aharon dies and Moses strikes the rock and is denied entry to the Promised Land; victorious battles are fought with the peoples on the east bank.

And this coming week, judging by events at the end of last week, we will find Israel today as Balaam prophesied: alone.

Let's see, last week the Michael Oren book stirred up bad feelings about him, as he put it, in an interview with the Jerusalem Post in Friday's edition, in which he observed that all his critics focus on him claiming that he wants to sell books and not on the substance of his complaint. U.S. Amb. Daniel Shapiro exposed himself as a true blue, a true, red, white and blue Jewboy when he called Oren a liar and delusional.

Oren responded, “I wish I were delusional. I wish the U.S. administration had not negotiated behind our back with our worst enemy and made a deal almost universally seen in Israel as a bad one.”

Indeed. The current occupant of the Oval Office has not only abandoned us, he is arming this generation’s No. 1 terror state that has shamelessly toyed with the idea in public of destroying us with an atomic bomb, G-d forbid. Oren told the Post in responding to his critics, “We always heard from Obama, ‘I’m not bluffing about a military option for Iran,’ and then earlier this month he told Yonit Levi on Israeli TV ‘There really is no military option against Iran.’”

Of course. This man has gone through life with that big, phony smile exploiting the white man’s liberal’s guilt for his history of racist oppression, sailing through every day, every moment, by lying. He is one of the greatest liars I have ever seen. You can find 26 videos of him saying, “If you like your doctor you can keep your doctor” when he knew this was not true; following Ft. Hood he said Islam had nothing to do with the carnage.

And here is Michael Oren pointing to his constant lying to Israel saying, “We’ve got your back.”

He has fooled so many people and continues to do that. Today, Yair Lapid was on board with his belief that Obama has truly been the best president for Israel for his increased military assistance and cooperation, oblivious to the shell game Obama has played with us. Yes, he has authorized more war planes and munitions and whatnot; yes, but he does not care about any of that. That is just a diversion. All he cares about is getting Iran the bomb.

He has acted like a Muslim, leastwise in that memorable interview with Bill O’Reilly when the IRS scandal broke and he denied there was even “a smidgen of corruption.” Another, sincere president would have said he was disturbed by the allegations and would get to the bottom of it. But not Obama. It was a response in the same league with Ft. Hood: shameless denial.

And of course he has lately been playing the “I will abandon you to the tender mercies of the Security Council” game. He threatens not to veto a resolution to destroy Israel as Apartheid South Africa was destroyed if we do not do as he demands.

On Friday, we were further isolated in the world by the successor to Caesars, the Pope of Rome who was photographed embracing the Holocaust Denying head of the PLO as they signed off on the Church’s recognition of Baalshaminian sovereignty in Judea and Samaria, the names in the New Testament that he does not use. He uses the cover-up name “West Bank.”

And I would also include in this list of abandonments the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on Friday to dump the Bible into the garbage can and declare male-to-male sodomy the equivalent of normal conjugal relations between a man and woman. Mike Huckabee got it right in saying, “The Court has declared war on Christianity,” and for sure it is to the Jewish text that Christians look for their views on this behavior.

I doubt there is anything on the subject in their Greek texts appended to our Tanakh, vs. the Tanakh that is clear that this behavior is a major no-no via the story of Sodom and Gomorrah where G-d vaporizes the people and their towns. And why?

I think the Lord did this because there is nothing more G-d-like among man than the creation of new life, a new baby, a new person. As G-d created Adam and Eve, He endowed every man and woman (excluding the statistically insignificant minority of those born with defects in the matter of reproduction) with the capability to create life.

It is an activity unique for its physical pleasure. As someone one said, "There may be some things better than sex but nothing quite like it." And it is no coincidence that the peak coincides with the expulsion seed from the male to the female, seed programmed to seek out an egg to mate with it and create a new human being.

Only, for the men of Sodom and the ladies all alone on their island of Lesbos, that pleasure and procreation are torn apart. The men in particular spill their seed not into the body of a womb-man, a hu-man (sic) with a womb, but into another man's bodily orifices.

This is a kind of theft, the pleasure of procreation without procreation and the subsequent responsibility for years to take care of and nurture what a husband and wife have brought into the world.

And for sure what a shanda (that's Yiddish for shame) that three of the five judges on that Court who voted for so-called gay marriage came out of the Children of Israel.

And note the dishonesty of the language that people use nowadays. "Gay" was originally a code word among sodomites. The old word sodomite found in the Oxford English Dictionary was eclipsed. The sodomites used it in search of partners for their vice. Now there's another word that we never hear any more: "vice."

Notice the semantic infiltration of the words "gay" and "gay marriage" whose purpose was to cover up the old word that was descriptive of the behavior that such sex addicts engage in. And I've no doubt that is what all these aberrations are: addictions, little different from heroin addiction.

On Friday in Washington, classical Jewish morality was abandoned and we classical Jews are more alone than ever. Not only are we pariahs for our old-fashioned morality in this regard, much worse, we are, for holding on to it, bigots, cruel and intolerant of "gay" people.

And I also think there is some kind of connection between this moral turpitude on display in the West last Friday in the U.S. Supreme Court and the Pope's embrace the same day of Abu Mazen the Holocaust-Denying murderer of Jews and the seemingly well-coordinated massacres of people in France, Kuwait and Tunisia by a satanic, uncivilized, barbaric, Hamitic, antediluvian cult of brutes and their fekackte (that's another Yiddish word I won't translate) religion of Islam. Hundreds of people murdered within hours of one another. The bombing and beheading in France; the exploding mosque in Kuwait and the raking with machine-gun fire of British and German tourists on a beach in Sousse, Tunisia on vacation. Two score slaughtered there.

I spent a night in Sousse, let's see, 32 years ago. Tunisia has two major industries: olives/olive oil and tourism. It is the most welcoming of foreign tourists on the old Barbary Shore thanks to the wisdom of Habib Bourguiba who took the country into independence in 1956, vs. the Algerians who are pathological xenophobes and the Libyans whose desert landscape has nothing to say for itself except the oil underneath it. I think ISIS struck at Sousse because Tunisia has become unique in having a democratic election that reduced the power of the Islamists. Islam is a religion of submission and slavery whose devotees assume the position of slaves when they pray. They hate liberty, hate the liberal democracies and want to wreck Tunisia by wrecking its tourist industry. Islam is on the march and one can only hope the West wakes up sooner rather than later.

And I still think there is some connection between the collapse of Biblical morality, sexual morality, over the last half-century in the West and aggression by Islam, whose culture is truly, sexually speaking, really screwed up.

On the Gatestone website on Friday, there was another excellent piece by their Bassam Tawil -- which I'll bet is a pseudonym -- for an Arab who lives in Judea and Samaria, sees the truth and writes the truth.

His topic this time is the French initiative, the Fabius initiative, to draft a resolution for the Security Council in order to, he believes, soothe the savage breasts of the Muslims in France, especially the Muslim Brothers, who, in his words, are waiting for the order "to run riot through the streets of France."

He finds no logical reasons for the French drive to call into being a Balestinian State in Judea and Samaria. Such a state, Tawil says, would be "both unstable and prey to local and regional subversion."

Indeed. In truth, the phantom nation of Balestinians has always been a front for numerous Arab states and in the 70s and 80s the Soviet Union no less. The truth is that the Arabs in Judea and Samaria and Gaza are complete slaves of their backers abroad in Araby and Islam, in Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Iran, Turkey, none of whom give a damn about creating yet another Arab state. All they care about is harassing and ultimately destroying the Jewish free state, G-d forbid. If, by some miracle, all the Arabs in Judea and Samaria and Gaza tomorrow would put on a smile and choose peace with Israel, their backers aboard would not let them, not support them. They would cause trouble for them.

The PLO originally was invented by Nasser in 1959 as a front organization for Egypt, for himself, to continue terror attacks against Israel after the 1956 Sinai Campaign when his army was humiliated a second time by Israel. The Balestinian identity has always been tactic, never a real factor.

Behind this phantom nation in our time is Islam, and Islam today is no closer to accepting the right of Jews to freedom and liberty in their own country than Islam ever was. Which is why the fantasy of a “Palestinian” state nurtured by such as the French is nothing but a plot against Israel; such as Fabius and Obama and all the rest of the two-staters who foster a fantasy of a Balestinian state whose people want only that state and have no desires to continue their murderous violence against the Jews once they have it.

This, of course, is utter nonsense, and many players among the Muslims are open about that. Only in the fever swamps of the Jewish Left’s muddled brains is their belief that all the Balestinians really want and would be satisfied with is that cute little state next door.

And I say, even if that were true, it is meaningless for they are not the masters of their own fate but the puppets of others driven by their hatred of Israel within any boundaries.

Bassam Tawil claims that the French initiative is “not a benevolent gesture to help the Balestinians.” He says that surely French intelligence knows the Palestinian Authority only survives thanks to Israel, and without that backing, left to their own devices, the Arabs in these areas would in a trice turn into another ISIS state, another homicidal, lunatic Muslim regime.

In 2006, the famous nation-builder Condoleezza Rice called for elections, apparently utterly ignorant of the elections in Algeria in the early 90s and the subsequent carnage there between the government and the Muslims who won the elections, which the day after were cancelled by the government because the Islamists had won. And then came a decade of slaughter. Today opinion polls here in Arab Judea and Samaria continue to reflect the popular support for Hamas over Fatah.

Islam is on the march, and it would be no different here were Israel to relinquish control of Judea and Samaria. Thus, the pursuit of the two-state solution is an impossibility for Israel. Fabius has to know this at some level of awareness, and so what he is up to is placating the Muslims in France in fear of a serious explosion by them. You go through the motions of feeding the Jews to the lions, and this way, he hopes, he buys at least some time.

Make no mistake: Islam is on the march and we see this not only in the horrors of last Friday, two hundred dead on three continents, but in the continuing demands of Muslims that not coincidentally, I think, track with the demands of the sodomites. Both of them are intolerant of those who do not agree with their ideas and support their behaviors.

Today, Gatestone ran another truly disturbing piece on a legal case in Belfast, Northern Ireland, where Christian pastor James McConnell, 78 years old, is being prosecuted for delivering a sermon in which he called Islam “heathen” and “satanic.” He is facing six months in jail for “grossly offensive speech.”

As the author of this piece, Soren Kern, points out, there are other cases like this in the UK only none of them concern the lunatic ravings of Muslims during their sermons in their mosques. They are left alone.

Pastor McConnell called Allah a “cruel deity, a demon deity” and Islam a “doctrine spawned in Hell.”

How like the words of Musab Hassan Yusuf, son of the Hamas chief in Judea and Samaria who collaborated with the GSS. He too said that the problem with Islam is that its deity is a cruel god.

Anyway, Pastor McConnell for his beliefs faces time in the slammer because the Muslims object to his views of their beliefs and practices.

How reminiscent this is of the aggressor sodomites who have driven small businessmen out of business for refusing to join them in their sexual delusions.

And who knows now what will happen in the States in a variety of arenas as empowered and emboldened sodomites demand the imposition of their desires on everyone else?

And that was Psalm 100.

On the home front since last webcast, we had yet another in the endless attempts to murder Jews last Friday in the Jordan River Valley at the Biko’t checkpoint about 30 kilometers south of Bet Shean. For some time now, the soldiers stationed there have belonged to a Haredi unit of reservists who responded properly when suddenly they were fired upon by what the MSM here stupidly called a “Palestinian” when there is nothing Palestinian about such people and everything Arabic and Muslim about them. The soldiers emerged from the attack unscathed; the Muslim did not. He was seriously wounded.

And then last night near Bet El north of Jerusalem, a Magen David ambulance driving innocently down the road was raked with machine-gun fire and hit like a dozen times. Again, thank G-d, no one inside was injured.

There really is no end to it and I suspect there will be no end to it until Israel does tshuva and reverses course. And by reversing course I mean Israel finally embraces its Jewish identity to the full which it never has. In many ways, secular Zionism was a rebellion against that identity. Last night for a few minutes, I channel-surfed and came across an Israeli rock group doing a number, music lacking all local color. As a group, a cheesy imitation of grating American rock and roll at its worst, played by musicians likewise indistinguishable in their appearance, their clothes and wild hair from similar groups around the world. Once upon a time, secular Israelis had their own look and culture but that it went out with Oslo and in came the “Hi and Bye” culture of universality.

This reversal that I want to see, the full embrace of one’s Jewishness, its Torah identity, is also a problem of the ruling class elite to this day, including even the prime minister, all of whom refuse to declare publically that Judea and Samaria are rightfully Israeli land and there will be no more talk of giving up even one more square meter of it.

The country is expecting this week the arrival of another flotilla of antisemites pretending to love the Ancient Ones that is camouflage for their age-old hatred of Jews, and one reason they come is the fatal error made by the prime minister at Bar Ilan when he returned to the prime ministership after more than a decade. At that time, he admitted, yes, the Balestinians deserve a state in Judea and Samaria, under certain conditions, and so long as Israel abides by this policy, it will be the target of antiJews demanding that Israel follow through on its recognition of the rightness of Balestinian sovereignty in the heart of the heart of the Promised Land.

Three Shabbosim ago, we read of the Miraglim, the 12 scouts who scouted out the Land and reported back, leastwise ten of them, that they did not want to take possession of the Land promised to the Children of Israel.

And here we are over three thousand years later, almost 50 years after the Six Day War, and Israel continues to refuse claiming Judea and Samaria as rightfully ours. It is rightfully ours, according to the laws of the gentiles, according to what Aristotle called Natural Law and of course, most important, the laws and law Book that has kept this people alive.

What a different world it will be when Israel finally reverses course and takes up arms against the antisemitic myth of a Palestinian Nation with rights to statehood in our Promised Land and Israel starts demanding respect for the Jewish peoples' rights, instead of trying to placate our enemies, near and far.
