Shalom laYehudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It's the evening of the 6th day, yud-gimmel beElul, Parashas Ki Saytsay, the evening of the 5th day, Thursday, 27 August 2015, webcasting from the target of a hatred unlike any known to man.

I think it is the upside, though, to this reality that it is evidence of the world's agreement that Jewishness, the Jewish religion, is the Real McCoy. The first commandment given to the first two human beings, "Don't eat from that tree" was violated. They rebelled, and saluting the religion of the Jews today and what it says also triggers rebellion in man.

Precisely because the world takes seriously the Jews' claim there is only G-d and He wants man to choose good over evil -- the first thing Adam and Eve learned when they bit into the apple of the Tree of Knowledge, that there is good and evil -- the world hates the Jews for being the chosen messengers of that story. People don't want to hear it.

Hitler himself, im'y, hit the nail on the head when he said the worst thing the Jews did was invent conscience.

So it is par for the course that every day, or almost every day, a non-Jew here or several of them try to murder one or more of us. Yesterday, there was an Ishmaelite with an ax in his hand who attacked an Israeli policeman outside Damascus Gate in Jerusalem and wounded him.

We also had more rock throwing and Molotov cocktail hurling and even the complete incineration of an Israeli Border Patrol jeep in A-Tor, a part of Jerusalem. The fire department came to put out the fire and became the target of rocks, which hindered their efforts. Heroically, though, they endured and managed to put out the fire before it could leap to nearby homes.

Looking at some video today of a clot of Ishmael-clones chucking rocks and Molotov cocktails, I was struck by the similarity of this scene to countless other visuals over decades. Decades. It is always the same. Young Arab males in their teens or early 20s wearing t-shirts and jeans and running shoes, their heads completely wrapped in desert keffiyas masking their faces, throwing rocks and flaming bottles of gasoline at Jewish people. It is a scene that confirms the Torah miSinai's description of Ishmael as a "wild ass of a man." These people never change.

And neither, I'm afraid, does Israel, or so it seems, in responding to them. I mean, the guy with the ax yesterday, 56 years old, had already spent years in an Israeli prison for murdering a Jew in Jerusalem but was released in 2013 by Israel thanks to pressure from that old Viet Cong collaborator John Kerry meant to entice the Ancient Palestinians to return to the negotiations, back to the negotiating table to negotiate a peace that they don't want.

We know now that six Jews have been murdered thanks to the release in 2011 of hundreds in exchange for Gilad Shalit, and now here is another antisemitic murderer imprisoned by Israel let go who attacks again.

This is the failure of Zionism. Oh, the movement was not a complete failure. The creation of this state, home to six million Jews now, over the last 150 years, is a miracle thanks to HaShem/G-d and Herzl's Zionists. But if his goal was ending antisemitism, Zionism failed.

Moreover, if memory serves, I want to read his book again, his fantasy novel Old-New Land, his vision of Israel after 20 years of independence suggests that Herzl didn't have a clue about the Muslims here and their opposition to the restoration of Eretz Yisrael -- and by his fellow Europeans no less. His fantasy deals very little with the Muslims. Something about a kindly Muslim priest in there who has an ecumenical friendship with the rabbis and Christian clergy. You know, all this kumbaya stuff.

And while Herzl's state did return the Jewish people to soldiering, their transformation into a New Jew is also not complete. I mean, there is something defective in these Israelis who think the right thing to do with murderers like this guy is put them in prison and treat them well, plenty of food, showers, toilets, television, classes to attend, and then let him out to attack a Border Policeman with an ax.

Again, this is a proven murderer of a Jew and one might have expected that in Herzl's New Jew Land, a Jew-killer would be executed as expeditiously as possible. The No. 1 crime in the State of the Jews Reborn should be violence against a Jew to which the government should respond mercilessly. Violence against a Jew should be the ultimate crime.

The purpose of the Zionist movement was to "refute the Diaspora," which is a slightly awkward translation of the Hebrew expression but one that makes the point.

What was normative in the Diaspora -- the murder of Jews with impunity -- would become the opposite of normative here.

The IDF reported yesterday that on Tuesday night in Judea and Samaria – this, by the way, comes from a JPost sidebar news brief of a few words only – the IDF arrested 31 so-called Balestinians which is, the item said, “significantly higher than the average in the IDF’s nightly West Bank raids.”

My guess is that the MSM, the New York Times, etc. have never once reported on this fact: that every night the IDF swoops down on a clutch of Ishmaelites in Judea and Samaria and hauls them in, which, when you consider the numbers, is nothing really. With over 1 million Arabs in Judea and Samaria, there are course at any given moment numerous start-up groups of young bucks planning on attacking Jews, and it is a constant battle daily and nightly to disrupt their plots. Just yesterday it was reported that there was a plot to murder Jews praying at the Tomb of Joseph in Shechem that was foiled. Eleven arrested.

This goes on all the time and it may be one of the principle reasons why Israel simply cannot retreat from Judea and Samaria. What? And hand the job over to the Ancient Palestinian Authority? That was tried already. It was called the Oslo Peace Process that failed big time.

Maybe, G-d willing, with a new president in Washington in a year and half or so, one of the Republican supporters of Israel, we will be able, finally, to stand up before the world and do what Israeli ambassador Haim Herzog did in 1975 in the UN when the General Assembly voted on that “Zionism is racism” resolution. He dramatically tore up the text. And that is what Israel has to do with the text of the Oslo accords. They must be declared null and void, expired, no longer valid.

Then maybe we can declare to the world that Judea and Samaria are annexed to the State of Israel. And as for the goyim in Judea and Samaria, we will be decent to them as individuals but they won’t have citizenship. And if they don’t like that, they are free to leave.

And when World AntiJewry shrieks back, “Apartheid!” “Racism!” we will reply that we have the identical right to expel all of them like the Allies after WWII who ordered 10 million ethnic Germans living outside of Germany to leave their homes, leave behind all their immovable property and go live with their brethren in the new, truncated Germany. Ten million people.

And may we also discover the spiritual fortitude to buck the politically correct error of thinking that a society with no death penalty is a more advanced and progressive and humane society than one with a death penalty. Israel may find the strength at that time to stop this nonsense of putting murderers in prison, taking care of them, and even sometimes letting them out to strike again.

That is the opposite of the advancement of society. It is a regression to a Hobbesian world of all against all and no system of law and order to enforce good over evil.

Yes, with a new Republican president in the White House it may become possible to take up arms against a sea of political correctness that is killing civilization.

One of its expressions is the inability of people in the West to see Islam clearly, though I suspect a major part of that inability is just fear, fear of Islam, fear of facing the enormity of the truth that Islam is the religion of the sons of Ham.

Take, for example, the story of Curt Schilling, the former American League pitcher, former video game developer and now a color analyst for ESPN baseball who just got sacked from his job of covering the Little League World Series for ESPN because of his splendid tweet the other day. Really a good one. He posted, “The math is staggering when you get the true number. It is said only 5-10% of Muslims are extremists. In 1940, only 7% of Germans were Nazis. How did that go?”

Perfect. That is exactly the right way to think about Islam. It does not matter than the majority are not terrorists. What does matter is the truth that enough are and even more: they are supported by the leaders of Islam. They are not outlying extremists.

One of the Muslim secret agent Obama’s most important tactical victories against the West was dictating from the first days of his administration to be politically correct and say that Ft. Hood had nothing to do with Islam. In his administration, he laid down the law that there would be no linking of Islam to terror, when in truth the only reason we ever hear of Islam is its crimes against humanity. Its terror.

I mean, over the last half-century of international terrorism, almost all of it perpetrated by Muslims, what other news have we had about this community of one billion-plus? Any contributions in science for the betterment of humankind? Have there been any interesting films and books to come out of Islam? Any R & D in medicine? In technology and engineering? Any new computer programs? All we ever hear from Islam is massacres and terrorist bombings and this week’s latest smashing of antiquities.

Last webcast, mentioned was the destruction of an ancient temple in Palmyra, Syria. Well, the New York Times’s follow up piece on the destruction included words from a Syrian antiquities official, one Maamoun Abdelkarim. He said that he and his department have been able to save some 300,000 objects from predations by ISIS. It turns out that ISIS may be blowing up the big stuff but the small stuff it is looting and selling on the black market.

What hypocrisy. In the Torah, the Israelites are commanded, when dispossessing the Canaanites and other sub-nationals, to destroy their idols and take no booty; not to keep their gold and silver. Everything must be destroyed. ISIS, though, in the name of smashing idolatry, is not doing that. They prefer to steal and sell such objects, which suggest that their avarice trumps their piety. I have long believed that Islam was only partially successful in its attempt to implant Jewish monotheism among the Arabs, and that so much of what we hate about Muslims is really the pre-existing condition of being a marauding, larcenous Arab people.

Interesting too in the Times coverage was learning that Abdelkarim has a PhD in Archaeology and so does his wife, both them heroically choosing not to flee Syria at this time, Damascus, but to remain and save as many its rich archaeological treasures as they can.

I read that and something did not compute. It turns out that both Abdelkarim and wife are not your run-of-the-mill Arabian Muslims as the name and the location of their home might suggest. He said that he and his wife chose to stay in Damascus “despite the war and accept this impossible mission because of their love for history and diversity. For him, the Times wrote, “it is personal as well as intellectual, given his Armenian, Syriac Christian and Kurdish heritage.”

Ah yes. This is not your run-of-the-mill Arabian Muslim who “loves history and diversity.” The Arabs don’t love history and don’t love diversity. They are totalitarians who despise diversity. And they re-write history as they choose. This curator seems to an Arabic-speaking Syrian citizen but his roots are in Christianity and the Kurds who are not Arabs.

This item brought up the theft and sale of these archaeological treasures, these idols and other non-Islamic relics, which only strengthens my view that Islam serves to validate and glorify their urge, which is pre-Islamic, to rob and plunder. They did that before the emergence of Islam, and they still do, only now they have a religious justification for overrunning other people’s countries and robbing them of their wealth in the name of spreading the One Truth Faith.

Which brings me back to Curt Schilling, who apparently was so unhappy to be fired and not allowed to work in broadcasting the Little World Series that he apologized for his tweet maligning Islam.

It is to his shame and ESPN’s shame that this has happened. It seems to be another offshoot of the politically correct acceptance of President Obama’s deal with Iran, he and the P5 +1 countries. It is more evidence of Bat Yeor’s prescient view of years ago now that the West was entering an age of dhimmitude in which we all act like dhimmis before the power of advancing Islam.

Reuters reported yesterday that the Saudis were able to find and extradite from Lebanon one Ahmad al-Mughrassil who was responsible for the bombing of the American barracks at Khobar in 1996 that killed 19 American servicemen and wounded 300 others. In 2006, it was proven in a New York City Federal Court that the truck bomb used was assembled in Lebanon by Hezbollah and Iran’s Revolutionary Guards on orders of Iran’s El Supremo, Ayatollah Ali Khomeini, the very one who is about to be gifted by Barack Obama with 150 billion dollars.

I find it simply amazing how this con man Obama and his deranged henchman John Kerry and their flunkies like Wendy Sherman have all talked themselves and too many congressmen and others into believing that the way to deal with the Iranians with their record and numerous attacks on American servicemen, and Iran’s shameless battle cry of “Death to America!” is to send them all this money and allow them to go on building an atomic bomb.

This is madness. This is absolute madness, made possible by the overriding drive by Obama and his Muslims and too many Europeans to attack the Jews in this generation as they attack us in every generation.

Yes, there is something that is simply insane in the denial in the West of the menace that is Islam. And notice I don't say, “Muslim extremists.” The reality is that these Muslim extremists, so-called, have for decades been financed by the mainstream regimes in Islam. HAMAS got off the ground as a protégé of the Saudis. The Saudis also provided the money for launching the Taliban in Afghanistan among whom that Saudi Osama bin Ladin began his terror career.

And it was the regime in Teheran as well that created Hezbollah and still supports it. This nonsense about Islamic “extremists” has got to stop, when their sources of funding and the asylum they enjoy are the mainstream governments in the region, that are as insane about the West in general, the US and Israel in particular as Germany's Nazis.

A week ago, it was World Mosque Day that commemorates the fire set in and the vandalism caused to Al Aqsa Mosque this month in 1969 by a demented Australian Christian who thought he was going to trigger the Second Coming or something, which explanation the Muslims have never accepted. For them, reality itself is as veiled as their women and there is always a plot behind the scenes. Their explanation is that Michael Denis Rohan who did that terrible thing was paid tens of millions of dollars by the Mossad.

Indeed, today's Organization of Islamic Cooperation, formerly known as the Organization of the Islamic Conference, all 56 states plus the phantom state of Balestine, was created in 1969 in the wake of that attack on Al-Aqsa. It was a way of reinforcing the truth that the resistance to Israel was Islamic before it was Balestinian. My own book records Haj Amin's calling a convention of Islamic States to combat Zionism in the 1920s, I think it was.

And on World Mosque Day which alludes to that attack in 1969, Iranian President Hassan Rohani – you know, smiley Rohani, that famous moderate whose election would change everything -- said, “This incident in [1969] means that the aggressive occupying Zionist regime is not bound by the laws of society and of humanity. It takes no pity on men, children and women, and continues to kill and rape them. Not only does it disregard a house of prayer, or a mosque, it also disregards the first direction of prayer in the world of the Muslims [i.e. Jerusalem] a place respected by all religions.”

You got that? Israel's occupation of Jerusalem disrespects all religions in his mind, as the Zionists keep on killing and raping.

This is who is in charge in Iran, the Iran that Obama and all those who support his plan want to give all that money to and let them build atomic bombs.

These Muslims, the ones in charge, are not the unrepresentative, radical extreme fringe but represent its core, the real Islam -- which ESPN does not want to know about.

Here's another example. Last Thursday in Cairo, ISIS set off a bomb in Cairo near a security building and courthouse that wounded 30 people. Afterwards, ISIS tweeted that it was in reprisal for the execution of six of its members who had attacked Cairo last year. "Let the apostates of the police and army, the followers of Jews, know we are a people who do not forget out revenge."

I read this and I ask, "In what century are these people living?" For them the Jews are behind everything. For them life is an endless series of attacks and counter-attacks in the name of revenge, a barbarian's idea of justice, when such an idea leads only to endless violence.

But they don't care. Violence is a way of life for these Hamites.

Last item: one other sign of the madness of our time was the news that the Germans are going to send the Berlin Philharmonic to Teheran for a concert, Daniel Barenboim conducting. He is their permanent conductor and he is happy to go, I am sure.

This is when we need a leader in Jerusalem who will, so to speak, yell at the Germans and demand to be told, "What do you think you are doing? These Iranians hate Jews as much as your grandparents and their Fuhrer hated Jews and are as open about their genocidal wishes as they were."

And as for Barenboim, well, he is as off the rails about his Jewish identity as Noam Chomsky is and Norman Finkelstein and Little Tommy Friedman, Roger Cohen and a host of others twisted up inside, men and women of Jewish extraction and legally Jews. All of them are pathetic prostitutes whose reward for Jew-bashing is fame and fortune.

Well, may we enjoy the Sabbath and have a better week next week. Leila tov veShabbat shalom from the hills of Judea.
