Shalom laYehudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It is the evening of the 2nd day, Erev Rosh Khodesh Shvat, Parashas Bo, tav-shin-ayin-vav, the evening of the 1st day, Sunday, 10 January 2016, webcasting from the Land of Israel, world leader, pace setter, land of homicidal Hamites now preying on the world.

So let's see if we can keep these events straight: a week ago, Friday, January 1st, a Muslim, apparently a smiling, friendly Muslim Arab with citizenship who had worked for Jews, no problem, flipped out and with a machine gun shot up a café on Dizengoff Street in Tel-Aviv, the local Champs Elysees in its prime, where lapsed Israeli Jews like to take their leisure on Friday afternoons. They are in no rush to get ready for Shabbat. The Muslim Arab killed two in the café, wounded six others then ran off. Some minutes later, he came across an Israeli taxi driver, a fellow Arab and killed him too.

Eventually, he made it back to his home of Arara less than an hour north of Tel-Aviv, and after a week of 24-7 searching by the police, the GSS, the army and doing some real detective work, they found him a week later, two days ago. He saw them coming. He opened fire with the same weapon that he had at the café and tried to run. He missed them. They didn't miss him. Another dead Arabian, another Muslim mass murder devotee.

And then the day before he was caught, last Thursday, in Paris, France, the anniversary of the Charlie Hebdo horror, a Muslim wielding a meat cleaver and appearing to be wrapped in a suicide vest tried to enter a police station. Les fliques/the cops at the door saw wires protruding from his pockets. They took no chances and they shot him dead.

And then there was that Muslim wearing a Muslim robe in Philadelphia that same day who was caught on video shooting a policeman in his cruiser. The cop took three rounds but I think he is going to be okay, thank G-d. Backup police caught the shooter.

And yesterday morning back here in Israel, Shabbos morning at the Bekaot checkpoint that connects the Shomron to the Jordan valley, two young Ishmaelites brandishing knives attacked Israelite soldiers posted there, who of course shot these two dead.

Tel-Aviv, the Jordan River Valley, Paris, Philadelphia. Three different continents. Pretty much the same thing, I'd say. Muslim maniacs acting like rabid dogs, mad-dog behavior, all of them bent on suicide as well, even more than homicide, I think. Or in this specific case, Jewicide.

Like the AIDS virus crossing continents, there is a spiritual plague out there effecting Muslims only. It compels them to murder people at random as a way of being put to death themselves. And of course, it is their religion than commands them and justifies this behavior, which makes Islam truly unique in this world. What kind of a fekackte religion leads people to do these things?

But of course the top story in the category of Muslim maniacs in recent weeks was the one out of Germany. The same day that this one Muslim monster in Tel-Aviv murdered three people in Tel-Aviv, in Cologne, Germany and Stuttgart and Hamburg, mobs of Muslim men pounced on passing women to grope and rob and rape.

This calls to mind what happened in 2011 in Cairo in Tahrir Square where CBS correspondent Lara Larson was violated in public by the mob.

And then of course there was the Rotherham abomination in England where Pakistanis for more than a dozen years had been molesting children, hundreds of them.

One wonders how many more Colognes and Rotherhams must the West endure before the West has the courage and the clarity to declare publically that these Muslims are seriously perverted in their sex lives. The way they treat women in the first case; that is the most obvious symptom of their fecockete sex lives.

In the days of the Barbary Pirates, when Algiers, Tunis and Tripoli were run by Janissaries and retired Janissaries called the Grandees, those gentlemen would commonly be seen about town accompanied by a boy dressed in the finest silks whom the dignitary could sodomize whenever the urge moved him.

Arab Islam is notoriously homosexual. Yasir Arafat maintained a harem of boys who grew up to be his bodyguards, who as boys became orphans when their fathers were liquidated by Israeli agents. Arafat would adopt them, raise them to become his bodyguards and use them as his sex-toys.

This is one screwed-up people, these Arabs. And I think there are connections between their mutilating of women/abuse of women, their sodomy and cruelty to one another. It is a world of sexual madness. This is what was on display in Germany on January 1st. Is there any other people on earth known for such behavior as seen in Cologne and Rotherham, Tahrir Square and Cairo? Who does these things? Apparently, it is behavior unique to Arabs and Muslims.

Years ago, I was in Cairo and crossed paths with a young American couple, tourists, nice kids. We got to tour a bit together, and when they were getting ready to leave the country, I asked her how their trip was. She said she was glad to leave Egypt, because to walk down the crowded sidewalks in Cairo was to be groped repeatedly. Cairenes copping a feel.

And I want to know, where does this come from? Where does this twisted sex life come from and what is the connection, if any, to this uniquely Arab Muslim 2-for-1 mass murder and suicide ritual?

What comes to mind is their distant forebear, Ham, son of Noah. As today's so-called Palestinians stole the Jewish narrative of being a stateless people deprived of its ancient homeland – which just happens to be the Jewish homeland -- an ancient people pining to return home to the old sod, so they stole the term "Semite." Palestinian Nationalism is just a plagiarized version of Zionism, Jewish Nationalism, and so have the Arabs pilfered the term "Semite" when they are in truth Hamites. Ham sired four sons, Egypt, Canaan, Put and Cush, and since Abraham and Sarah's servant girl was an Egyptian, her son Ishmael was, via his birthmother, not of the line of Shem like Sarah but Ham.

The Torah also relates that Hagar his mother made a shidduch, a marriage match, with another Egyptian girl for her son, so Ishmael's descendants – Jews go by the mother, not the father – are Hamites. His mother was a Hamite; his wife was a Hamite. His seed are not of the line of Shem, father of today's Semites, but Ham.

And who was Ham? A man with some kind of sexual disorder, I think. He invades his father's tent, his privacy, and sees his private parts and then goes outside to entertain his brothers who recoil at what he has done, its disrespect. So they together, standing shoulder-to-shoulder, drape a blanket or some garment across their shoulders, Shem and Yafet, and walk backwards into the tent and shrug so the garment falls on their sleeping father and covers up his nakedness.

When he wakes, the text says, "He knew what his son had done," and Rashi asks the question, "How can that be?" Noah was out cold, drunk asleep when all this son did was look. So he cites an earlier Midrash from the great heads of the yeshivas in Babylonia, and one of them says Ham homosexually raped his father; the other says, "No, he castrated him."

The first time I read that I was dumbfounded. Where did that come from? Where did these two distinguished rabbis get these gamy ideas?

With the American invasion of Iraq, though, thousands of years later, I think I finally understood. Among some of the coverage was one story of American soldiers amazed to see in the streets of Arab villages teenage boys sodomizing younger boys.

Of course. Today's Iraq is Babylonia of the Talmud and this is where our Talmudic Sages lived and taught and observed the mores of the surrounding goyim 1500 years ago.

Same thing today, it seems. These Arabs, these Ishmaelitic sons of Ham, are one screwed up society when it comes to sex.

These reports out of Germany are a nightmare, with Cologne's woman mayor clueless when it comes to responding to this antediluvian behavior.

That's who I think Ham is. When introduced in the Torah, he is a verse away from the word hamas, the name of the last sin that leads HaShem to destroy His creation. Hamas is unbridled aggression of man against man, and it seems that of all the survivors of the great Flood, Ham was the one who most bore the spiritual genetic code of hamas from before the Flood to after the Flood. He was carrier of hamas that infected the world after the Flood.

These Arabs must be assessed honestly, these invaders in Europe and Canada and Australia and now the U.S.

What civilization does not need is the response in Philadelphia by the mayor to that eruption of the plague in his city. He told people, like Obama after Ft. Hood, that Islam had nothing to do with the violence.

This will not do.

* * (Musical Interlude) * *

Yes, I think what happened in Germany on New Year's Day, like what happened in Paris on November 13, like what happened in Bali in 2002, in London in 2005, in New York on 9-11, is a true expression of Islam, the religion of Muhammad who was a psychopath with a perverted sex life to go with it.

And I think there is a religious meaning to all this; that is what it means to be a Jew, I think: to see the Hand of G-d in the unfolding of history. And I find a curious coincidence between the invasion of the West by these sexually perverted, predatory men and how the West since the 1960s has itself turned into a cesspool of sexual misbehavior.

Since the 1960s, there has been a complete collapse of sexual morality, the destruction of the lines between male and female. The 60s produced the Broadway entertainment called Hair, which included a moment of total nudity on the stage to titillate the audience. It was also the age of unisex barbershops.

It was the age of Hugh Hefner's Playboy Magazine whose true purpose was self-abuse and the spilling of seed; and the decade of the miniskirt; of mass-market birth control pills and devices. This led to, in the early 1970s, within I think a period of 24 months, three major social upheavals: the legalization and eventual de-stigmatization of abortion; the cancelling of the death penalty; the removal of homosexuality from the professional manual of mental disorders used by psychiatrists and psychologists called the DSM.

Since then, over 50 million babies in the States alone have been killed in the womb. Since then, the AIDS epidemic ravaged the West, which was coterminous with mass homosexual orgies.

Since the 60s, the marriage bond, holy matrimony, “till death do us part,” has shattered. I think that today a minority of children in the States live with both parents; most don’t.

There is some kind of connection between the penetration of the West by these Muslims and the havoc they are now wreaking and the collapse of sexual morality in the West.

In the 1990s, the President of the United States of America, occupying an office once held by the noble George Washington and the righteous Abraham Lincoln and the vital Theodore Roosevelt, William Jefferson Bill Clinton was exposed as a sexual pervert playing sex games in the Oval Office. And now resurfacing are earlier accusations this man as a rapist.

If so, he is a long way from the giants of American history who preceded him. He and his wife are nothing but cesspools of ambition absent any noble motivating cause. I don’t think Hillary Clinton has had an original idea in her head. I don’t she think she has any desire to remedy any serious problem afflicting the country. She just wants to be president like a man.

She too is another symptom. She should have had more children than one. She is an example of a serious, negative consequence of modern Feminism. The people who created the United States, northern European Christians like her with a sprinkling of Jews are not reproducing (except for Orthodox Jew) and Hillary Clinton is a prime example of a woman whose desire for a man’s career was greater than her desire for motherhood.

Last summer, the U.S. Supreme Court also voted to approve marriage between people of the same sex, just like in Sodom and Gomorrah, and here we have news stories of sex-crazed mobs of Muslim men preying on Western women.

Today’s sodomites have had the great victory of getting society to overlook their outré activities and call them not sodomites – which describes their peculiar behavior -- but “gay.”

Not sodomites, now they are “gay,” and the mayor of Philadelphia like the Muslim in the Oval Office denies that Islam had anything to do with the shooting of yet another cop.

We live in an age of denial. There is nothing wrong with abortion, goes the common wisdom now. There is nothing wrong with divorce. There is nothing wrong with having children out of wedlock. There is nothing wrong with two men or two women pretending to be man and wife, husband and wife, raising a child. In my opinion, that is child abuse.

Watching Philadelphia's mayor insist that no one make any connection between Islam and the shooting of one of his policemen, it struck me that politics these days has gone beyond the old divisions between left and right, socialists and capitalists, progressives and conservatives. Today the divide is between the sane and the insane.

I follow the news of Hillary Clinton's major crimes and cannot believe she still appeals to anyone in America. Have these people still supporting her checked their brains somewhere? What do they see in her as having the right stuff to be commander-in-chief of the United States Armed Forces?

What has this woman ever done to merit that office? As Obama was an empty shell, an empty suit, an image that people voted for, so Hillary Clinton appeals to people who think it would be a good idea for a woman to lead the country.

Which takes us back to the culture's sexual insanity. Voting for Hillary as President because she is a woman is a vote not for her head, her intelligence, her wisdom, but a vote for her reproductive organs, as if her supporters never took high school biology and do not know that it is the brain, not one's sex organs, that is the seat of human intelligence.

Now this next story is a painful, annoying, angering one. I am sure you all saw how last Thursday evening in Israel on TV Channel 2, Btselem was exposed as an organization that rats on Arabs who sell land to Jews in the foreknowledge that they will be tortured and murder by the PA with its network of prisons that are never inspected by the United Nations Human Rights Council, that's for sure.

An intrepid and wily combat veteran persuaded Btselem he was an enthusiastic new member of the group and faked his way into getting radical leftist Jew Ezra Nawi, with a hidden camera and microphone, to boast of his ratting on Arabs who make these deals.

Minister Bennett now wants legal action Btselem. The radical Left is as twisted as the radical right. In their sick identification with the enemy, they take the side of these antisemitic barbarians and justify revenging themselves on fellow Arabs who betray them by selling land to Jews.

Well, I'd have to meet them halfway on that. I can understand the Arab anger at those who sell land to Jews, but not to the point of torture and murder. I myself am opposed to the opposite, to selling land to Arabs if that will impact negatively on a Jewish community.

But not to the point of wanting to torture and murder Jews who do that. For me, they belong in herem; they deserve to be excommunicated from the community, which is not even the same as excommunicated from the Jewish people.

It is thus being an accomplice to torture and murder this squealing on these Arabs by this Israeli Jews that is just intolerable.

The question of owning land here is in the heart and root of Jewish identity. Hashem's first sentence to Abraham promises this Land.

Abraham comes, and when he needs a plot to bury his wife, he insists on buying it, not accepting it as gift. He is thinking about the future.

The promise of this country to the Jewish people is made in the Five Books 180 times; it is that central to Jewishness. And when the people are punished, they are deprived of this Land. The first exile lasted 70 years. The second lasted 1800 hundred years (and is still going on).

Throughout Jewish history in the Exile, owning land was hardly common. Jews were merchants and bankers and investors and doctors and accountants. They ran restaurants and travelers' inns.

But rare was the legal owning of land and its wealth, its forests, its mines. Jews were denied the right to the wealth that is in the ground.

This Ezra Nawi is a despicable man. He has so identified with the enemy; he joins them in their brutal crimes.

I hope Btselem gets what it deserves.
