Shalom laYebudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It is the evening of the 6th day, yud-zion beShvat, Parashas Yisro, tav-shin-ayin-vav, the evening of the 5th day, Thursday, 28 January 2016, webcasting from the land that drives men out of their minds.

And in that regard, it has been an action-packed week with one successful and a few unsuccessful attempts to Jew-kill in the very week the UN commemorates International Holocaust Remembrance Day, that was yesterday, and two days in a row the UN secretary-general bashed the one Jewish state recognized by the UN following the said-remembered Holocaust. I mean, how bizarre can you get?

The day before on Tuesday and the day itself, the head of the UN bashed Israel in classic, antiJew fashion seemed to from different angles. It was an antiJew assault by him because it approved Jew-killing and was a pack of lies. AntiJewism is always lying about Jews.

He said, for example, on Tuesday, "It is human nature to react to occupation, which often serves as a potent incubator of hate and extremism." Pointing to human nature, he might as well have said it is normal for the victims of Zionism to react as they do, thus supporting them in this latest round of Jew-killing via knifing and vehicular homicide.

And referencing the "occupation," well, that is a lie because there is no occupation according to international law. There are conditions that constitute an occupation of one state by another and those conditions are absent in this situation.

His was also classically antiJew in this outburst for assigning ultimate responsibility for the murder of Jews to the Jews themselves. Notice his sequence: first, occupation by the Jews, which is presumably and presumptively unjust and illegal that turns into an incubator of hate. In other words, if the Jew-killers here in this time and this place are hateful, that is the result of what the Jews have done to make them fill up with such hatred.

And notice, finally, how he was unable to call a spade a spade and use the term “murder.” Instead, he said the incubator produces hate and extremism. And what pray tell is extremism, if not engaging in the most extreme act a human being can which is killing another man?

Notice too he did not even use the word “terrorism,” but “extremism,” and that is because his paymasters are the Muslim states who are the plurality at the UN -- which is why Israel should walk out of that terrible organization after decades of trying to win it over. For example, the UN tried for years to compose a definition of terrorism but were never able to agree on one because the Western democracies wanted to include what the Arabs do to Jews in the Jewish Free State. The Muslims and Arabs said, “No way.” They have been adamant that their violence against Jews in Falastin is the “armed struggle” a.k.a. freedom fighting. Terrorism is what the Jews do in self-defense.

Prime Minister Netanyahu shot back that Moon is providing a “tailwind for terrorism. There is no justification for terrorism.” He also added, “Those Palestinians who murder do not want to build a state but destroy a state and they say this openly.”

Compounding Ban Ki-Moon’s classically antiJew thinking was saying what he did as in Israel another lovely young Jewess, age 23, Shlomit Krigman, by’d was laid to rest in Jerusalem.

And Ban Ki-Moon did not stop there. Everything out of his mouth this week exposed his addiction to antiJew behavior. He went on with the obligatory condemning of Arab violence, their “stabblings, vehicular attacks and shootings by Balestinian targeting Israeli civilians all of which I condemn,” he said, and “clashes between Palestinians and Israeli security forces that continue to claim lives.”

And I find this stream of thinking truly a violation of human nature that includes a basic sense of justice and, the right to self-defense. He condemns Arabs killing Jews in their current fashion and then condemns, by implication, IDF soldiers who also take lives, “Palestinian” lives, in these violent clashes initiated by the Arabs.

In the first instance, Arabs pounce upon defenseless Jews and stab them to death; in the second instance, Arabs attack Israelis with potentially deadly instruments, rocks, Molotov cocktails, and then are killed in self-defense by the Jewish soldiers. For an antisemite like this UN bureaucrat, since there is Jewish death at the hands of Arabs, and Arab death at the hand of Jews, moral equivalence! It’s a tie ball game. Both sides are guilty of taking life.

Such is the warped, inhuman mind of this Jew-hater.

And he did not stop there. “Palestinian frustration is growing under the weight of a half-century of occupation and the paralysis of the peace process.”

In this sentence he communicates his view that what leads to these Arab stabbings, etc. is “frustration” that is so intense because it stems from the realization that the beautiful dreams of knife-wielding idealists in their futile fight for freedom have been stymied by a paralyzed peace process, though once again, like covering up murder with the word extremism, this relieves the murderers of responsibility for the paralysis. The parties responsible for this paralysis are not named but in context, everyone understands it is Israel’s half-century of “occupation” that Israel unjustly refuses to end.

I don’t think the sky would fall if the prime minister had gone beyond his indignant objection to the support for terrorism, his language, and said of the man himself that Ban-Ki-Moon is an antisemite.

The next day, Ban Ki-Moon responded to the prime minister’s accusation that he provides a tailwind to terrorism by standing by his remarks and adding the word “stifling” to the charge of occupation. He said, “Young people,” presumably the knife-wielding attackers, are “especially losing hope. They are angered by the stifling policies of the occupation that began in 1967 that must end.”

You get the picture. The teenage Arab brute who plunged his dagger several times into the surprised upper body of Shlomit was angry because he felt stifled by the occupation.

Think of that: Ban Ki-mon might have added that this poor, young Arabian male could not even breathe in this stifling occupation imposed upon him by Jews and so of course he grabbed his dagger and stabbed the first unsuspecting, defenseless, helpless Jewish person he could find, her and another Jewess.

I also think it is clear what we have in Ban Ki-Moon is this generation’s version of homicidal Jew--hatred, “justified” as it always is. That’s the thought that begins my book’s Chapter 1. Every outburst of homicidal madness against the Jews is a response to some presumed evil the Jews are believed to have committed, so it is understandable. In Ban Ki-Moon’s words, it is “human nature to react to occupation,” which he said in reference to the homicidal violence of the Arabs.

Yes, he condemns what they do but does understand what goads them to such behavior and clearly the initial catalyst that starts the ball rolling is Jewish behavior, so at the end of the day, he condemns stabbing Jews to death but they are ultimately at fault for the whole business. It is the Jews that drive Arabians to seize their daggers and kill them.

So what we have heard this week out of the mouth of the spokesman of the family of man assembled in the council of nations in New York is this generation’s mutation of age-old behavior.

In early 20th century Germany, following the First World War, Jew-hatred was expressed in a very different way: out of the mouth of a barking mongrel of a man with a little mustache, shouting and snarling and gesturing, threatening the Jews because in the just concluded War, Germany had suffered a humiliating loss and whose fault was it? Why, it was the Jews that stabbed Germany in the back. Interesting similarity in the technique

In the 1920s in his beerhall speeches and elsewhere, he said the party responsible for the terrible loss and imposition of ruinous punitive penalties on Germany was the Jews.

He organized dramatic, Wagnerian, spectacular, nighttime, torch-lit rallies with goose-stepping men in uniforms and more speeches against the Jews who were responsible for everything that was wrong in Germany.

Today, though, the style is very different. Following the inferno of the Holocaust, the old way of sneering and shouting and hating and accusing Jews has given way to this more diplomatic and genteel style of His Excellency the Secretary-General of the Nations United around Nothing so Much as Their Shared Hatred of Israel.

It is the same-old same-old lunatic hallucination of Jewish culpability, of the Jews being responsible for the persecution and abuse they bring on themselves.

* * (Musical Interlude) * *

And that was from Shir HaShirim/ the Song of Songs, 2:3, 8:6-7.

So yesterday was International Holocaust Remembrance Day instituted by the United Nations some years ago, and I wish Israel would, next year, refuse to participate, for it has become, like a Reform bar mitzvah, a meaningless charade presided over by antisemites like Ban Ki-Moon whose participation makes a mockery of its intended purpose: to remember the Holocaust, what he called a “colossal crime, evidence of which is irrefutable.” But yesterday, not surprisingly, he did not name the victim of the crime or its perpetrators.

He did single out Iran by expressing his “profound disappointment” at the decision to proceed like last year with a Holocaust cartoon contest in the spring making fun of the lie that there was Holocaust. Ban Ki-Moon might have pointed out the recent anniversary of the Charlie Hebdo massacre that was a protest against cartoons making fun of Islam’s founder, and here official Iran smiles on making fun of the crocodile tears of Jews over an even that never happened.

But then in classic, contemporary fashion, Mr. Moon turned away from the target of the day, the Holocaust being commemorated, and began speaking of the “humanitarian crisis of our time, the situation in Syria.”

That is always the way it is on Holocaust Remembrance Day, January 27, chosen as the day before Auschwitz was liberated by Soviet troops on that day in 1945. Speakers around the world and I am sure in Reform temples and other non-Jewish Jewish organizations held ceremonies in which the Holocaust of the Jews was mentioned but then other injustices in the world; like the humiliation of Muslims by Islamophobes, the tears of lesbians, gays, bi-s, transgenders all rejected by homophobes.

The aged victims of ageism and short people who suffer the sorrows of heightism, especially gay midgets and lesbians who are black.

Said Ban Ki-Moon yesterday in his speech to the UN General Assembly on this day of Holocaust remembrance, "I urge everyone to denounce political and religious ideologies that set people against people." No mention of antisemitism?

I'd have to check the transcript but I would not be surprised to discover that nowhere does he use that term and single out the Jews.

I think Israel in the future should abstain from any connection this day. We have two other days in the year in our own calendar, an Israeli day and a couple of days Haredim choose to remember what we went through. The International Holocaust Remembrance Day UN-sponsored commemoration has become, ironically, an occasion for covert antiJew thoughts like those of Ban Ki-Moon.

When the Holocaust becomes universal, it is like early Christianity sneering at the Jewish people for claiming a special covenantal relationship with G-d. Those greedy Jews. Christianity said everyone is entitled to a special relationship with G-d. Indeed, the Church of Rome claims Catholicism is the real, special covenant and the Catholics are the real Jews.

Then along came Islam saying, "No, as the Jews lost their special relationship to G-d as the most beloved people to the Christians, now the Christians have lost it to Believers in the Final Revelation."

Everybody wants a piece of the action. Look at how Islam anchors its claim to the special covenant in the fact that Believers in 638 overran the Jews' Temple Mount and they will never let the Jews take it back.

Notice how for these primitives the special covenant is largely contentless. What is the content of this special relationship for Muslims? It is not the substance of Islamic teaching that matters but just the concrete possession of the Temple Mount. That is all that matters. Without the Temple Mount, Islam has nothing to teach and there is certainly nothing in Islamic culture that merits praise. On the contrary, using Ban-Ki-Moon's example, Syria is a nightmare culture; there and in Iraq and Yemen and Afghanistan and Pakistan and Sudan and Libya.

Yes, Israel should withdraw from any connection to this masquerade of remembering the Holocaust. Yesterday, the always excellent Knesset Speaker Yuli Edelstein spoke from the podium of the Knesset and took note of how both France and Italy were honoring that day Iranian president Hassan Rouhani. He said, "I have no words for the hypocrisy of the presidents of countries, like France and Italy, that on Holocaust Remembrance Day play host to the president of Iran." Edelstein referenced the upcoming latest cartoon festival in Teheran mocking the lie of there having been a Holocaust.

What a joke. When France and Italy on this memorial day play host to Iran, this generation's power publically dreaming of incinerating the Jewish state, G-d forbid, that arose after the Holocaust, it is proof of the meaninglessness of this day. It has become a farce.

Poor Shlomit, by'd, was laid to rest in the Holy City on this day as the UN's headman accused Israel of being the party ultimately responsible for her murder.

* * (Musical Interlude) * *

One encouraging note this week of miserable weather has been the disclosure that the 15 year-old savage who murdered Daphna Meir, by, mother of now six orphans and an experienced neurosurgery nurse, told investigators that he was driven to strike as he did by programs seen on PA TV.

As a result, Yesha Council's head Avi Roeh wrote to the PM and the DM and Public Security Minister Erdan to say they have to do something about this. And I say, "No kidding."

In 1993, the holy father of peace the future Saint Simon of Oslo Peres took away a TV channel used by Israeli Arabs for their programming and gave it to the PLO, which began today's PA TV showing all kinds of programs and images glorifying the murder of Jews in Israel; showing caricatures of Jews as pigs and apes and other sub-humans with disgusting characteristics. They show allegedly monstrous crimes by Jews such as murdering these boys and girls who Israel claims attacked with knives when, like a fictitious Holocaust, that has never happened. The Jews just murder them at random and then plant the knives on them.

PA TV claims the whole Temple Mount is now in Israeli hands, and so on and so forth. As usual, one delirious lie after another.

Well, as I usefully say, don't expect much action until this time 12 months from now when the antiJew Islamophile in the White House is gone. I believe he is capable of anything against us because he is a Muslim and Islam is a form of antiJewism. This guy scares me and will scare me until he is gone. He should only drop dead tomorrow.

But when he goes, and assuming the next president will be pro-Israel, Israel has to finally bury the Oslo failure and all of its provisions and assumptions. And in the matter of the antisemitic filth that the PA produces every day in its media, Israel should immediately, in a midnight raid, raid PA studios and walk out with all the equipment. And when the Enlightened howl in protest, the prime minister must announce to the whole world that "This is the Land of Israel, home the world's one and only Jewish people at home again in our land and we are under no obligation to tolerate within the borders of our land the poison of lunatic, homicidal Jew-hatred worthy of any Nazi or Church inquisitor or Cossack or Crusader in our past. We will not tolerate the production of antisemitic poison that urges potential homicidal maniacs to murder us. Israel has zero tolerance for such behavior and will not permit it.”

Israel might also send military units to every school and park in Arab Judea and Samaria named for the terrorists to tear down the signs honoring them.

For sure, afterwards, the enemy will replace them but sometimes media events, however temporary, can serve the purpose of putting the locals and Scheisse keops like Ban Ki-Mon on notice that the days of antiJew propaganda produced here are over.

It should also be time to finally go to war with the very idea of Balestinians with national rights to our G-d given Promised Land that we brought back to life.

I find it simply shocking that Israel has accepted all these years the existence of the PA media printing and broadcasting these classically antisemitic fantasies, which the GSS has finally, publically, concluded have been a major contributor to the current wave of nightmarish murders.

Another ambush last night in the Givat Ze'ev gas station in northern Jerusalem. The victim was seriously stabbed and was reported by late afternoon to be in an induced coma and stable but still at death's door.

Yesterday as it happened, heroic citizens witnessed the attack and though evidently unarmed ran after the devil who at one point threw away his knife but after being caught and wrestled to the ground and had the stuffing kicked out of him, was found with another knife hidden in his clothing. Those who grabbed him apparently beat him up pretty good but for sure he was nowhere so wounded as his Jewish victim; and how unfortunate none of the heroes had a gun to do what was necessary.

Now, as usual, with Jewish money, one of Jerusalem's hospitals is taking care of him and perhaps he will get a prison term and be sustained by more Jewish money.

Israel has to get straight in its head about this behavior too.

* * (Musical Interlude) * *

And that was the last psalm in the Book of Psalms, Psalm 150.

Last item. In keeping with the foregoing thoughts on Israeli policy after the Muslim antisemite in the White House is gone, last Shabbos in Ramallah, Mahmoud Abbas met with local journalists and said, “Anyone one who gives up Jerusalem is a traitor and there will be no Palestinian state without the city as its capital.” He also said for the umpteenth time that he would never recognize Israel as Jewish state.

And I say, Israel must respond by declaring Oslo finished, a dead letter and Abbas Public Enemy No. 1 of the people of Israel and in that light Israel has the right to do to him whatever it pleases because he has voiced his desire to take the capital of Israel away from us.

DeProgramProgram.com

In 1940, the Germans rolled into Paris and took over and claimed that now Paris belonged to the German people led by their Fuhrer. In this light, Israel will regard Abbas and anyone like him who pines to steal out capital from us, Public Enemy No. 1, and Israel will feel no obligation to this man whatsoever.

When Obama is gone, may it be a new day in the Land of Israel for the Jewish people as it finally buries the functionally traitorous stupidity of the Oslo Abomination.
