Shalom laYehudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It's the evening of the 6th day, kaf-zion be-Sivan, Parashas Korach, taf-shin-samech-tes, the evening of the 5th day, Thursday, 18 June, 2009, webcasting from the land of eternal concern.

It never stops does it? This focus on getting Israel to do right by the Ancient Palestinians.

The cosmic hoax of a "Palestinian" nation with national rights here in the land of the world-famous Bible that says not a word about such a people nonetheless appears to recapitulate the famous Biblical struggle between the Children of Israel and if not yet the Ishmaelites then the Philistines, which phonetically is almost like saying the "Palestines." And of course the very words "Palestine" and "Palestinian" are rooted ultimately in the word "Philistine." In Hebrew, the original language of all mankind, the land was called Pilasbet and the people the Plishtim, which means "invaders," which tells us they were foreigners not entitled by HaShem to live here.

The secular academic scholars who study the Bible in universities seem to agree with the Sages of the Jewish people that indeed the Philistines came from the west, the people who penetrated the Land of Canaan some academics say a century before the Exodus, some say a century after.

The Sages taught us that the Philistines like the Canaanites were of the seed of Ham and in fact they were the bastard off-spring of two of the peoples to come from Ham, two peoples who were both in the vulgar, modern vernacular "swingers"; wife swappers. And the Philistines were the bastard birth of this adulterous conjugal behavior.

The Bible tells the story of the clash between the Philistines and the Children of Israel that lasted for more than four centuries. Eventually, the Israelites – it took that long for the 12 Tribes to congeal – overcame the Philistines who disappeared from the Land like six or seven hundred years before the Roman Empire rolled into Eretz Yisrael.

The Jews then were the most rebellious of all the dozens of peoples Rome conquered. There were two revolts, two horrendous wars, and after the second the Hitler of his day, Emperor Hadrian, not only had slaughtered maybe a million Jews and destroyed the Temple, he banned them from Jerusalem and renamed the city after his own family and the triune Capitoline gods whose temple was in Rome, calling it Aelia Capitolina.

And then he renamed the province of Judaea - which had been the name for roughly two centuries under Rome - and called it Palaestina, after the long-gone Philistines who at that point in time were the stuff of ancient legend.

And there was meaning in Hadrian's renaming Eretz Yisrael this way. The Jews had been such a pain in the neck within the Roman Empire he planned on genocide; to do away with the Jews altogether. Not only did he kill over a million and exile the survivors to the four corners of the earth; and not only had he destroyed our Temple which was at the heart of the faith that made the Jews such a pain in the neck for resisting Roman domination...You know lots of peoples overrun by the Romans were happy to join this empire. They had no great attachment to their now forgotten ethnic identities. In Edward Gibbon's monumental history The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, he mentions some of these peoples whose names you have never heard of.

But not the Jews. For all of Rome's true greatness in engineering and literature and philosophy, political philosophy, the plastic arts, they were still religiously pagans given to gratuitous cruelty and immorality, with their bear-baiting entertainments and gladiatorial contests. In our time on Sundays in the West, people go to watch monster men clash in professional football teams - a sublimated version of the Roman Coliseum, where people came to see warriors kill each other, mutilate one another before their very eyes, at which activities they often laughed.

So Emperor Hadrian the cruel not only killed and exiled the Jewish nation from its G-d given homeland, he changed the name in favor of the pagan Philistines that the Jews had become a nation against by overcoming. Here was Rome's pagan spirit at war with the Jewish spirit, and by renaming Judaea "Palaestina," he hoped to commit genocide, to turn the Jews into at best the memory of an extinct people in whose place the Philistines would return to resurrect the culture the Jews had vanquished.

Today it's the State of Israel - Israel being the name of a specific patriarch of the Jewish people, Yaakov - versus the "Palestinians" who seem to have resurrected the primitive, cruel culture of the real, historic, ancient Philistines who aggressed against the 12 Tribes for centuries.

Yesterday in Washington, D.C., the Secretary of State, Empress Clintonius Hilarious at the head of the most antisemitic department in the U.S. government, met with her Israeli counterpart, Avigdor Lieberman the former Russian bouncer in a bar, and told him in so many words that he and his people were trespassing on land belonging to the "Palestinians," so he and his people must stop improving the property. It's their property which you Jews stole from them in 1967 in an imperial quest. You took from them what has rightfully been their ancient homeland since the days of the original Philistines."

That in effect is the normative, conventional, politically correct narrative these days, regarding the endless violence here, the constant attempts by these Neo-Philistines to murder us Jews, and Israel's constant, 24/7 effort to defend ourselves from these vicious "Palestinians." This is the narrative now in the heads of Madame Chang Kai Hillary Clinton and Tony Blair and Javier Solana, etc.

This is where Bibi might have been stronger in his speech, rejecting this narrative which has turned us Jews into the aggressors of 1967 and ever since.

This is why Bibi did not go far enough. We'll see better days when an Israeli prime minister declares that Golda Meir of blessed memory was right, she who was prime minister in 1969 the year the Rosemary's Baby of the "Palestinian" People emerged on the stage of history. Golda spoke the truth that, more or less, this "Palestinian people" routine is a form of psychological warfare, disinformation, propaganda. Israel needs a prime minister who will say that: that there is no "Palestinian" nation with national rights in the middle of our tiny country; that his Land is lawfully and righteously ours; that we have even more right to it than Hillary Clinton has to the Illinois she grew up in, land won in a war with the Brits bearing an American Indian name. Here all the names are in Hebrew.

Today's Haaretz headline was that the U.S is upping the pressure to allow goods into Gaza; that means Lady Macbeth Clinton and her former hated rival on the campaign trail Sheik Obama ibn Obama are behind it. Haaretz said that in attention to the formal written communiqué to Israel expressing the U.S. position, there was oral communication rejecting the Israeli linkage between more goods for Gaza and freedom for Gilad Shalit. An unnamed U.S. functionary said such linkage was "not constructive."

And here on display is more antisemitism. The U.S. has been known to support dissidents in dictatorship like Sharansky and Sakharov in the old Soviet Union. Condi Rice spoke up for the Egyptian dissident Saad Eddin Ibrahim suffering in an Egyptian prison.

And here is this young soldier being held against all notions of the civilized treatment of prisoners of war. This is an obvious case of torture, psychological torture of not only Gilad but his family and friends. Who knows what physical tortures they put him through if any? Obama and Hillary cry themselves to sleep at night over the poor poor Muslims in Guantanamo but not Gilad Shalit and his distraught family.

It is simply outrageous that the U.S. is taking this position of opposing linkage by Israel in its policy toward Gaza and the situation of poor Gilad. The United States - instead of defending the Arabs in Gaza who of their own free will voted for Hamas in 2006 because they are suffering the consequences of years of terrorist aggression against Jews in Israel with their blasted rockets - might be making a stink over this ghastly torture of this innocent young Jew and his family. What would it cost them?

What it would cost them is points in the game of Guilt & Sympathy these barbaric Arabs are always playing.

The spirit behind this ugly U.S. policy also animates the gambolings here of Jimmy Carter the redneck primitive from Georgia. This week he was in Damascus smiling with Khalid Mashaal, then he was in Gaza smiling with Isma'il Haniyeh, these two enemies of civilization who mounted the stage of history by murdering Jews big time in spectacular bus and discotheque bombings, these atrocities in which Jews by the hundreds of them were blown to bloody smithereens.

Jimmy Carter sups with the devil.

And that was from a new CD by Udi Davidi. And it was of course Yona matza that we sing on the Shabbat, the words by Yehuda HaLevi, I think, who lived in Spain in the 11th century. And I thought the music would be music that Jimmy Carter might like.

So Obama and Hillary are putting the screws to Israel over being nicer to the people in Gaza who are crucifying Gilad Shalit and his family everyday. They also want Israel to send more money from banks in Israel to banks in Gaza so that the banking system there doesn't collapse.

The U.S. is also demanding Israel cement and iron so they can repair and build better bunkers for the next round of fighting. Oh, the U.S. says the cement and iron would be used for reconstructing all the buildings Israel destroyed and damaged last January. But Israel knows better.

What also is going on here is the U.S. sending the message to the Arabs in Gaza that they don't have to learn any lesson concerning the consequences of firing thousands of rockets into Jewish homes and streets. The lesson the U.S. is sending is "Go right ahead, because Uncle Sam will pay the bills; Uncle Sam will fix things up afterwards."

Uncle Sam and the Quartet of powers, the E.U. and all those NGOs who represent all of mankind and some nations even twice. I mean, the Quartet is the U.N., the E.U., the American and the Russian empires; which means the E.U. states and America and Russia get counted twice in the Quartet. This is the lesson of the world's backing of the people in Gaza against us. It is the whole world against us in Gaza.

Somewhere this week I saw or heard the idea that the White House backed Jimmy Carter in his free-lance, unpaid diplomacy. And the BBC reported today that St. James of Plains was "distressed" by his visit to Gaza. He was reported to have handed over a letter to Hamas from the Shalit family to give to Gilad, and Carter was quoted saying that he believes Gilad Shalit is "alive and well."

At which point, if yours truly had been there on the scene, I might have not been able to restrain myself from punching this guy in the nose for saying that. Saying Gilad is alive is one thing, but saying he is "well" is outrageous. How could he be well, kept as a prisoner in some stinky Arab hovel? Who knows how he is being treated? Maybe you remember AP reporter Terry Anderson in the 1980s held hostage Beirut by the barbarians for seven years, many of them in a room chained to a radiator like dog.

Gilad Shalit can only be living in torment. What does this scheisskopf Carter mean he is well? Because the barbarians tell him so? Did you see how this moral monster Carter told the Ancient Ones during this trip how much he loves the "Palestinian" people and tells his grandchildren all about them and their suffering, or words to that effect? What Carter is doing is teaching these kids to hate Jews for our cruel "displacement," in the words of Carter's soulmate Barack Hussein Obama.

In this BBC report yesterday we got this: "Mr. Carter condemned the deliberate destruction in Israel's military offensive but also expressed sadness over Palestinian rocket attacks on Israeli towns."

Look at this: He condemns Israeli violence against the Arabs for their thousands of rockets fired into Jewish villages and towns, but as for the Arabs, they receive from him no condemnation. He switches from condemnation mode to pity for the victims. Condemnation of the Jews, and sadness for the Jews, but no condemnation of the Arabs.

The BBC did report that he called for "an end to all violence," which is the contemptible moral equivalence of antiJews these days who cannot bring themselves to condemn the Arabs in isolation for their own sins. The Jews must be thrown for condemnation at the same time, one way or another.

This has been the verbal trickery of the Arabs for decades now: When asked to condemn terrorism, Arafat and Erekat, all of them, say, "We condemn all terrorism wherever it originates." That is the same thing.

Carter concluded with, "Never in history has a large community like this been savaged by bombs and missiles and then been deprived of the means to repair itself."

This peanut farmer with the peanut brain is no more the historian than his soulmate Barry Obama. Israel killed some 1,000 Arabs in January in Gaza, 80% of them antisemitic murderers in the terror gangs in Gaza. In the "Blitz" in London during World War II, I think the Germans killed 40,000 people and likewise did nothing after the bombing to help the Brits rebuild. This Carter is as stupid as he is antisemitic.

But for my money, his crowning judgment in Gaza yesterday was declaring that the people there are "treated more like animals than human beings." That of course is a statement about us Jews, who are as cruel to Arabs as they are to Gilad Shalit only there are many more of them.

What monsters we Jews are for treating the people in Gaza who applaud the rocket boys like animals. The inhumanity of that suggests that we Jews are inhuman ourselves. Not human but super-human in our cruelty to the victims of our Zionism who greedily declare that Palestine of the Palestinians is for Jews only.

And never mind Israel is 20% non-Jewish. Carter and Hillary and Rahm Emanuel are demanding that Judea and Samaria become completely Judenrein. The right policy they say is driving all the Jews from the settlements and turning everything over to the Ancient Ones which is exactly what was done in Gaza. And never mind what has happened in the wake of that expulsion.

What Carter was implying in accusing us of not treating the Ancient Ones as people but as animals was that we are inhuman.

He can condemn Israel's self-defense in Gaza last January and still feel sad that the most of the Jews in Sderot now suffer from shell shock, of being shocked with fear and adrenalin rushes again and again.

One wonders when Israelis are going to come to the conclusion that the entire edifice of Palestinian Nationalism is just another smoke screen for old-fashioned, dehumanizing Jew-hatred in modern dress.

* * (Musical Interlude) * *

So have you noticed the joint offensive by the antiJew West in the matter of Gaza and specifically support for the ruling power there, Hamas? Clearly Carter's current junket has been a PR campaign for Hamas. He is openly advising Sheik Barack to remove Hamas from the U.S. terror list. On Tuesday, during his visit to Gaza, he let Hamas the joint press conference whose very staging illustrated moral equivalence: Carter at one podium and Isma'il Haniyeh at the other. And Carter allowed his Hamas hosts to portray themselves as nationalists and not religious assassins. There were no Hamas flags in the room, only the Neo-Philistine flag. And Haniyeh said Hamas favored the creation of a Palestinian state with the 1967 borders {there were no borders, but never mind}. He said, "We are pushing for the realization of this Palestinian national dream."

This guy is not only an antisemitic mass murderer but a phony, a dissembler. This is the Muslim Brotherhood speaking which arose in opposition to all forms of nationalism in the Muslim Middle East. They hate nation-states which they see as a Western notion. They want a singular caliphate run by a Muslim divine in the mode of Muhammad himself.

This disgusting performance in Gaza by Carter in his role as spin doctor for the satanic terrorists followed by a day the meeting in Luxembourg between Avigdor Lieberman and 27 foreign ministers representing the European states in the E.U. – these 27 inquisitors - who under French leadership issued their first statement ever about the Middle East which did not include the standard demands of Hamas that the Quartet came up with, basically the same sort of conditions once put upon the PLO by the U.S.

This too is a sign of the times, of the necessary antiJew campaign these days to bolster Hamas because Fatah and the PLO are a spent force. Fatah has no respect among the Arabs in Yesha, in Judea, Samaria and Gaza, the putative future homeland of the Ancient Palestinians. That was the meaning of the election in 2006. Fatah is finished after a dozen years of corruption and incompetence and violence.

So now the world needs a new "legitimate" Jew-killer cult. Hamas has to be legitimized because it now has the power that Fatah and the PLO once had, and they are dying. The world needs in every generation a "legitimate" reason and institution for Jew-killing and for Jew-killers to do the deeds.

Some day, G-d willing, Israel will have a leader who will not only as Bibi did - resist Pharaonic restrictions on Jewish procreation – but insist that the world look upon Hamas as it looks upon al-Qaeda. What is a Hamas suicide bombing if not a 9-11 in miniature? The boarding of a commercial transportation conveyance by a suicide bomber who murders all aboard. The only difference is in the arithmetic.

Israel has to tell Lady Clinton that Hamas in Gaza is to us what the Taliban in Afghanistan is to the U.S.: an enemy force to be destroyed, defeated, not bolstered with more goods and cement and iron for more war preparations.

Someday Israelis will wake up and see the absolute failure of Zionism as theory and praxis when it comes to defeating the antiJew hostility of man.
