Shalom laYebudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It is the evening of the 4th day, erev rosh khodesh Mar Khezhan, Parashas Noach, taf-shin-peh, 5780, the evening of the 3rd day, Tuesday, 29 October, 2019, webcasting from an Israel that has to wake up and read my book.

Is it just me or are there other pro-Israelites, Jewish and non-Jewish alike, who are sick of listening to anti-Jew lies about Israel, that like an old vinyl music record with a scratch in it repeating over and over again the words “occupation” and “ethnic cleansing” and Israeli “racism” that are never answered by a pro-Israelite with the defense that there is no occupation and it is the Muslims who want to cleanse Judea and Samaria of its Jews?

People like Hillary and Brennan and their criminal clique who smeared Trump with being a Russian agent, when they are the Russian agents, it is the Muslims who want to cleanse Judea and Samaria of Jews, when the very word Jew derives from Judea, the Latin mangling of Yebuda; like the Spanish Judio, or the French Juif or the German Jude. Those who smear Israel with the crime of occupying illegally an area the Muslims today call the “West Bank” or “occupied Balestine” are the ones bent on ethnic cleansing, like the new foreign ministress in Sweden Anna Linde who sees in BDS no antisemitism. She mistakes the BDS smokescreen of supporting a state in the “West Bank for the Palestinians” for the truth, and misses the sub-surface, ultimate goal which is the destruction, G-d forbid, of Israel. She says, “Israel’s right to exist is not debatable in any way. I hope to visit Israel in an official capacity. I am fond of both Israel and the Palestinian territories. I was in Sderot and saw the damage done by Hamas rockets that landed in a kindergarten, so I understand the threat and fear. This does not contradict the view that the occupation which is in violation of UN resolutions must end and the Palestinians must be given their rights to live in recognized borders.”

And there are no Israeli, Jewish or Gentile friends of Israel to answer. 1) She oddly expresses a fondness for not the Balestinians but the Balestinian territories, when the correct name is Judea and Samaria. She should open a Bible or open any encyclopedia published before 1970 and those are the names printed on the map. 2) There is no occupation. This is a figment of a lie implanted in her brain by antiJews. She should examine the League of Nations map of the Palestine that the League invented explicitly as the Jewish homeland and see what antiJews call “the occupied Palestinian territories” really belong to the Jews.

This is a property dispute. Who owns these hills? The Jews with artifacts of their existence in this land over thousands of years, or a nation unheard of in the history of the human race until the late 20th century? When oh when is our prime minister going to proclaim this truth?

When are we going to demolish the lie of a “Palestinian” people that, according to Anna Linde of Sweden and millions of others has rights to owning these hills? The quintessential antiJew sin of the Oslo peace perverts was entering into the fantasy life of the antiJews instead of taking up arms against their lies. In the black hearts and stupid minds of Peres, Rabin, Beilin, Livni, etc., peace would descend on Israel when Israel stops being greedy and accepts that the Ancient Ones have as much right to a state in this tiny piece of real estate as the Jews.

Today Israel is sovereign de facto if not de jure in all Judea and Samaria. Our forces go anywhere they want as needed. The area of all the land west of the Jordan River is about the size of Massachusetts. But still we are greedy Jews, greedy Jews, who do not want to share this land as we do not want to share our special covenant with G-d, said the first Christians. They said, “Everyone has a special covenant with G-d. Who do these Jews think they are calling themselves the Chosen People?”

The land area of Araby is some 40% larger than the United States of America. The US has 50 states; the Arabs have 21 states, and the fact that the US states function as one nation, and the 21 Arabs states do not, speaks volumes about the Arabs. The distance from Casablanca on the Atlantic Ocean opposite Brooklyn to Baghdad is longer than the distance between Los Angeles and New York.

Still the Arabs don’t have enough room. In the minds of dullards like this Swedish woman, the conflict here is the result of the Jews having too much land and the Arabs not enough.

In early 1948, there were some seven (I think) independent Arab states that came alive following WWI, almost all of them resulting from a League of Nations mandate, with still no Jewish state. One finally came into being later in the year. So, there were now seven Arab states and finally one Jewish state which has been required every day since then to fight for its survival.

Seventy-one years later, there is still only one Jewish state and but now there are 21 Arab states, three times the number in 1948, but apparently that is still not enough. The Arabs must have, and Anna Linde agrees with them, a 22nd Arab state and not coincidentally smack dab in the middle of the Jews' ancestral, biblical, Promised Land.

What Linde does not see and pro-Israelites do not make the case for is that this conflict is not about the rights of Balestinians denied by those terrible Zionists but the religious imperative of Islam, and post-Christians I imagine like Anna Linde, to resist the resurrection of the Jews in their land as prophesied thousands of years ago, which lends support for the proportion that the claims of this religion in this life are uniquely true. The resurrection of a vibrant and vital Jewish self-governing, sovereign Jewish community here that had not existed for over 2,000 years -- Rome took over in the year 63 BCE -- this very thought can be breath-taking and leave one speechless. Maybe the Jews are onto to something with their religion.

The prime minister and chief of staff this past week have warned of the Iranians feeling their oats and victorious after destroying half of Saudi Arabia's oil production with a sophisticated aerial bombardment of drones and cruise missiles. Iran also took down over the summer an American drone and Trump did nothing. The MSM here reports, the IDF reports, the installation of Iran's long-range rockets in Yemen that can reach us.

Israel has been bombing Syria and then Iraq repeatedly for months, destroying whatever Iran installs there but now Israel fears retaliation. Israel has evidently a system for dealing with low flying missiles and drones called the Barak-8ER. Israel halted all strikes in Syria during the Days of Awe in fear of inflicting such damage as to "license" them to strike back during the holidays. The question now is, Will Israel return to the level of operations before the Saudi strike, which was evidence of Iran's excellence in engineering? They are head and shoulders above of the Arabs intellectually, no doubt.

Moreover, I have noticed a repetitive threat over the last weeks. More than one Iranian politician/general has boasted, "We have the capability to destroy Israel in 30 minutes," G-d forbid. Perhaps, but they surely know, because they are not comatose that Israel would still have the capability to vaporize Teheran, incinerate the holy cities of Qum and Najaf, disintegrate the port of Bandar Abbas and do lots more damage.

The government of Israel has also alerted embassies to heighten security, for the Iranians are barbarians no less than the Arabs with decades of firing bazookas and throwing grenades at Israeli embassies and consulates and/or sending letter bombs.

And why is Iran so worked up over Israel? Surely, it has nothing to do with the plight of the imaginary Palestinians, a people unheard of before the late 20th century. In the 1920s and 30s and 40s, Muslims here fighting Zionism murdered Jews in the name of Islam, not "Palestinian" nationalism, and likewise today the phantom

Palestinians are nothing but a verbal hologram producing the optical illusion that there is something there, when there is nothing there.

Someone in Israel or the Jewish world at large has to teach Anna Linde and all the billion people who think like her that there is no occupation. It is the Muslims who are bent on ethnic cleansing, and there are no Balestinians with a right to create a sovereign state in Judea and Samaria recognized by the League of Nations as the Jewish homeland. There never was such a nation and certainly none with the right to a 22nd Jew-free, independent Arab Muslim state in the middle of the internationally recognized Jewish homeland.

I imagine that some of you, like yours truly, have been enthralled, if that is the word, by J Street's annual Jew-bashing festival, this year graced by five, count 'em five, delusional Democrats who think they have the right stuff to replace Donald Trump as commander-in-chief of the armed forces and steward of the American economy. Do any of these Democratic pretenders to the presidency have a background in the private sector, let alone accomplishments suggesting they have the right stuff to lead this nation's 320 million human beings?

On Monday there, one of the five nobodies, Julian Castro, told the audience that as president, he would put pressure on the Jews to cease and desist their occupation of Ancient Palestinian territory. He said the US can "pressure Israel not to move forward with unilateral annexation or continued expansion of settlements in the West Bank," and he expressed his "hope that there's gonna be a new opportunity with a new American president in January 2021 and a new administration in Israel to get this relationship back on track and toward a two-state solution and stop any kind of effort to unilaterally annex the West Bank."

He also mocked Jared Kushner as the peace maker. "I wish this president would send somebody over there that actually has a track record and experience of being able to help achieve stability and peace."

And I see in this behavior an arrogant ignoramus who thinks he has the authority to tell me, a Jew, that I cannot live in Judea. Who the Hell does he think he is to be pontificating on the future of Judea and Samaria? For sure, he is no friend of the Jews and our right to these hills. He is an ignoramus when he prefers to Jared Kushner "those with a track record and experience of being able to help achieve stability and peace."

He seems to have in mind the Jew-boys at the State Department, the peace processors, Dennis Ross, Aaron David Miller, Daniel Kurtzer, Daniel Shapiro, etc. They brought peace and stability to Israel? They with their Oslo big idea brought down on Israel the 2nd Intifada, five years of satanic cruelty perpetrated by these savage Arab Muslims. Julian Castro does not know what he is talking about.

But that's okay. For in our time, the left, the liberals, the enlightened pronounce on political and social issues in order above all to advertise their beautiful souls, their virtue. In their universe, an enlightened, woke person of course supports the "victims of Zionism," the phantasmagorical Balestinians crucified daily by the same people who killed Jesus, and in the same country of Balestine -- and never mind Jesus never heard that country-name in his lifetime.

"Two states for two people" is a statement advertising the speaker's judgment that the Jews are greedy. Like Anna Linde who can mouth support for Israel's right to exist and maybe even call Jerusalem its capital but it must also share the country and that city with the Ancient Ones or be judged a despicable people, as that Jew at the University of Chicago said last week.

Today's antiJews in a post-Christian era, post the Age of Reason, no longer sneer and snarl at Jews for being Christ-killers who always try to cheat you. No, today they are in the opinion of the family of nations the world's worst offender of human rights as seen in their theft of Balestine, their ethnic cleansing of the land of the legitimate ancient owners and their continuing refusal to depart the "occupied territories."

Well, so much for Middle East expert Julian Castro at J Street this week. Then came a bona fide malsheen, that is Hebrew for "slanderer," or an epikorus/that's Yiddish for "epicurean"/post religious, or arguably a meshumad/Hebrew for "apostate" who converted to, in his case, Communism, not commonly seen as a religion but as the successor to religion because it functions very much like the medieval Catholic Church; opponents can get burnt at the stake.

Bernie Sanders concurred with Castro on the tactic of depriving the Jews of military assistance if they go ahead with annexing the "West Bank" and expanding settlements. Bernie even said, "Let's give the Ancient Ones in Gaza the 3.8 billion dollars we give to the Jews" -- which I imagine won him cheers and applause, and never mind that the bulk of the aid to Israel is spent employing American workers in defense industries in the States.

He also boldly said, "It is not antisemitism to say that the Netanyahu government has been racist. That's a fact."

Bernie is even more far gone than I imagined. This is the equivalent of agreeing with the UN General Assembly in 1975 that "Zionism is a form of racism" because Netanyahu is a prince of the secular Zionist movement. His father was one of Jabotinsky's pallbearers when he passed in 1940.

Bernie thinks it is intellectually possible to call Netanyahu a racist without calling the Zionist state racist because the people of Israel have kept him in power longer than any prime minister, including the legendary founding father David Ben-Gurion.

Bernie also acted out a classic antiJew behavior when he proposed moral equivalence between the government of Israel and the Muslim Brotherhood assassins in HAMAS and the PA. "It is not only Netanyahu's government that's been a problem; let's recognize that there has been corruption in terms of Hamas and the Palestinian Authority."

No, Bernie, corruption is not the problem in HAMAS and the PA. It is their satanic murders of Jews that never stop. There is no comparison between us civilized Jews and these barbaric enemies of civilization.

Bernie also exposed himself as a painfully shallow man. In response to the support he has received from those two Arab Muslim she-devils in Congress Rashida and Ilhan, he said, "Being Jewish may be helpful in that regard. It would be very hard for anybody to call me whose father's family was wiped by Hitler and who spent time in Israel as antisemitic."

What an unoriginal and ignorant jerk of a malsheen/slanderer he is. Norman Finkelstein did the same thing in the introduction to his first Israel-bashing book, advertising himself as the child or grandchild of Holocaust survivors, which lowbrows like them think immunizes them from being judged antisemites, when this defense unintentionally reveals their inner concern, fear and knowledge that they really are antisemites and will be caught out as that.

Bernie is an ignoramus as well for suggesting that a Jew cannot be antisemitic, when in our thrice daily prayers we reference the slanderers among us, which curse uniquely among the 18 Blessings, was instituted some 1,900 years ago. That is how common it is in every generation for some Jews like Bernie to betray the people they were born into. And because G-d was the power responsible for their birth within the Jewish people, the antiJew Jew is at war with HaShem.

Two days ago on the American Thinker website, a retired professor of Political Science at the University of Cincinnati, Abraham Miller wrote under the title "Jews Will Not Abandon the Democrats, Even as the Democrats Abandon Them," then descanted on the well-known for decades now confusion among non-observant American Jewry between being Jewish and being in tune with the Democratic Party.

He rightly dismissed how many dismiss the importance of the presence of those Muslim she-devils in the Democratic Party, while swallowing uncritically the anti-Israel accusations of fellow liberals and the left in that party. You know, Israel as the colonial occupier of the Ancient Ones' country and their chronic abuse of the poor, poor victims of Zionism.

Abraham Miller wrote, "Much of the Jewish community either buys into this, or ignores it." And in bold, he observed, "Given a choice between preserving their Jewish identity or embracing the ideology of the Left, many Jews would prefer to be Democrats than Jews."

Yes, but I think that what he misses is that such Jews have no interest in preserving their Jewish identity because they have no Jewish identity. The non-Orthodox do not understand what it means to be a Jew, which is a daily occurrence many times in the day, starting with the moment one opens his eyes in the morning.

The Jewish identity is not preservable when confused with showing up in a temple a few times in the year and putting a child through a pantomime bar mitzvah that the non-observant inflict on their children. Such Jews do not believe in the obligation of living a life of mitzvot and therefore have no business conducting so-called bar mitzvah ceremonies that are experienced as some kind of ancient ritual of no meaning. Hence, the heretical musical entertainment loved by such Jews called Fiddler on the Roof in which the main character Tevye says Jews do things but don't know why, but it's the tradition!

And this community of nominal Jews, because of its historic connection to the Democrats, because it has no serious content to its Jewish identity, identifies with a political party for a sense of community.

Last webcast, I despaired of “Boogie” Herzog thinking he can wage an “uncompromising assault” on antisemitism without attacking the lies of the so-called “occupation” and a “Palestinian people” with rights. And now I add thinking there can be any loyalty and concern among Diaspora Jews for Israel who have no religious identity.

If he really wants to keep alive Jews and pro-Israel Jews in the Exile, he should funnel lots of money to Chabad. All other forms of Jewish Israel identity without the religion are doomed to failure.
