Shalom laYehudim, Shalom laBnai Noach, Shalom laGoyim. It is the evening of the 6th day, yud-zion bekbodesh Mar Khesbvan, Parashas Vayeira, taf-shin-peh, 5780, the evening of the 5th day, Thursday, 14 November, 2019, webcasting from the killing fields of Israel, the last legitimate country on earth where Jew-killing is okay and even praiseworthy in some quarters. Many quarters.

We have just been through another bout, like a bout of recurrent malaria, of feverish, homicidal Jew-killing attempts that the world obviously does not protest against. Indeed, in the same days that a European Court singled out Israel for special treatment connected to Israel's resurrection of Jewish life in Judea and Samaria, calling for the labelling of marketable products produced by Jews in the so-called occupied Palestinian territory, and never mind the scores of other land disputes in the world that are not so singled out for rebuke and an assault on an economy.

Not for the first time, Muslims in Gaza sued for a ceasefire as in the past but unlike the weeks of rocket fire in 2014, this episode of needing to kill Jews seems to have ended pretty quickly and one imagines the explanation was likely the ferocity of Israel's response. It is reasonable to assume, Jews being Jews, lessons were learned and techniques improved since 2014. Not only did the IDF obliterate the latest blood-thirsty Muslim maniac heading Islamic Jihad but almost two dozen more members in his cult.

Was there ever such a war in human history in which the stronger side did not use overwhelming force to kill thousands of nameless enemy soldiers in uniform; instead, that side singles out individual bad guys with names for extermination?

The IDF has also, it seems, improved the speed at which it spots a team of blood-thirsty rocket launcher boys and splatters them. The late English Jewish scholar Haim Maccoby wrote a book called The Sacred Executioner as a religious figure – for example, the Jews as Christ-killers – and here we are at the barrier ever week, and now another spurt of hundreds of rockets fired at us forcing us to kill these Muslims who are not shy about expressing their desire to be killed to order to jump up to Heaven for eternal drunkenness and the violent deflowering of virgins. In a way, the Muslims get us to do their bidding by making us kill them.

And the world says nothing about the obvious truth that every one – every one -- of the hundreds of rockets fired at us this week, every one was an attempted murder and even massacre of Jews at random. That is a war crime, but the world community says nothing.

I speculate with no information that we hit Gaza with more force than ever before, smashing and destroying Islamic Jihad places, offices, arsenals, workshops and dozens of trained rocket boys who must now be replaced.

As part of this latest chapter in homicidal Muslim aggression against us, the rival Hamas gang participated from the side by launching fake news reports, which is not new. I remember in 1967 the official Syrian radio announced that its forces had destroyed the Haifa refineries, its soldiers were already sitting in the cafes of Tel-Aviv, and this week Hamas claimed that as part of the war, an Israeli jeep in Jerusalem was bombed and five IDF soldiers were killed and operations at Ben-Gurion Airport have been suspended, and one imagines more fairy tales like these were spread.

Israel also publicly and in practice told Hamas only Islamic Jihad was in IDF sights.

Notice the recurrent sociology of these Arab Muslims and their age-old, chronic tribalism in which parties in society become mortal enemy's incapable of brotherly cooperation. Think of the Sunni-Shia split, which happened in the first generation after Muhammad died, and over what? Power, succession. When Muhammad left this life and not a moment too soon, his inner circle of devotees turned naturally to his son-in-law, his right-hand man, Abu Bakr - by the way the first name of the Islamic Jihad headman exterminated this week. The first Abu Bakr became the first caliph, from the Hebrew, lehakbleef, to exchange. But thereafter, there was a dispute over the proper way to succeed a dead caliph. One camp said that since Abu Bakr had been of a relative of Muhammad, so all caliphs should descend directly from Muhammad. The other camp said that since the first caliph was chosen by Muhammad's ansar, the Muslim theft of the Christian concept of apostles, so should a new caliph be chosen by consensus of the dead one's inner circle. And that split exists to this every day and murderously so. The Sunnis have been killing each other over this for fourteen centuries.

The Sunnis are devotees of the sunna, or tradition, of election, sunna being a cognate of the Hebrew root for year shanah/shin-nun-beh which in the Piel conjugation means to repeat. Same root in the word Mishna.

Versus the breakaway faction, the shi'a, a mangling of the Hebrew word si'a, meaning political faction. For sure, the Shi'a – notice the sin/shin reversal as in shalom/salaam -- means "faction," the one that broke away and contends for power with the original group.

Ergo, Fatah vs. Hamas, Hamas vs. Islamic Jihad, Sunni vs. Shi'a. These Hamitic Ishmaelites are forever killing one another and over the last few days, and really from the first, they tried to kill at random as many non-combatant Jews as possible, toward no benefit other than satisfying their primitive enslavement to revenge as an idea of justice.

Notice the disparity. We Jews zero in on one bad guy; they respond by the firing in an attempt to kill any Jews at random as possible. And for what? Where is their program for ending this hostility? And the answer is there is none because hostility is a way of life for them. The ignorance and blindness of the Oslo cultists was manifest in many ways, including the witless belief that although the Arabs never make peace with one another, they were going to make peace with us. They would sign on the dotted line for peace, keep their word, that would be the end of it.

Last webcast, I said this following: "They destroyed a Jewish factory in Sderot, hit a Jewish home, terrorized hundreds of thousands of Jews; prevented hundreds of thousands of Jewish children from going to school, which may be the most significant 'accomplishment' of these Muslims. They know at some level of understanding that the Jews are smarter than they are, and keeping them from teaching their children contributes to the jihad, the struggle to return the Jews to their historic status under Muslim dictatorship."

And today in Yediot, their veteran Arab affairs Yossi Yehoshua reported that Islamic Jihad leader Ziad Nachala said, “The goal of this round of fighting was to make clear that we have the capability to interfere and bring to standstill normal life in Israel. We closed the schools and work places as the message that we wanted to send in reaction to the assassination.”

I think some forty Israelis were injured, and not a few when falling in their terrified rush for cover. The Muslims have turned our country into a shooting gallery, and the world says nothing. There is no demand for a Goldstone commission that investigated the alleged war crimes of the sadistic Jews who are always disproportionate in their self-defense. Yes, they have the right to defend themselves but they always overdo it. They can’t control their sadistic urges to be cruel to the Palestinians; that’s the idea.

But when these barbarians fire hundreds of rockets into our communities, the world says nothing. Individual politicians express their opposition to Islamic Jihad’s rocket barrage, but there will be no resolutions in the UN Security Council, none in the International Criminal Court. No calls for a war crimes tribunal for the Muslim cult gangsters calling themselves Islamic Jihad, which, when you think about it, is a sign of their stupidity, their tradition of illiteracy and illogic. “Islamic Jihad” is redundant. What kind of jihad other than Islamic exists? Whoever heard of a Jewish jihad or Presbyterian Jihad? A Tibetan Buddhist jihad?

This particular cult gang is backed by Iran, even though it likely is mostly Sunni. These Arab boys join the different groups because of friends and relatives. They are not the brightest bulbs when it comes to theology.

And as usual, not a peep is heard out of Israel’s political-military complex in the matter of ending these periodic bloodlust operations once and for all. Today, Naftali Bennett, who I had thought was smart -- and surely he must be having built an Israeli start-up and sold it for, like, 150 million dollars, and being an IDF officer combat veteran. Just now appointed by Bibi as Defense Minister as part of the political maneuvering Israelis never get tired of, he crowed “Israel will hunt down every terrorist until till our kids are secure and safe!”

And I thought, “He can’t be serious.” The Muslims are forever like Old Faithful the geyser in Yellowstone spitting up hot-headed, wild asses of teenagers thirsty for blood. This is not a problem of policing a normal, civilized community with some bad apples to be weeded out. It is a community that worships killers at worst, or steers clear of them at best because they cower in fear from their conscienceless hero-killers.

Israel has to rethink its way of dealing with the totality of Gaza. It is unconscionable that Israel allows this behavior to continue. Whatever happened to the Zionists determined to create a New Jew who would not let the goyim murder us at random anymore? What are they now?

* * (Musical Interlude) *

On the bright side of this latest outburst of bloodlust, there was one opinionator in Yediot after my own heart; Gilad Sharon, son of the late great Arik Sharon, ז”ל, who brought up my idea (more or less) rooted in astonishment at the Jewish pathology -- my word if not his -- this business of supplying the enemy with food, water and electricity. What Israel needs is a society-wide awareness of just how sick this behavior is. I think it is due partly to the corruption of money flowing through Israeli hands in supplying the Strip with all it needs.

But another major component I think is modern Israel’s endless quest to be liked and not hated and accused of being cliquish and clannish and abusing non-Jews, of being exclusivists. It is beyond the people of Herzl’s state to risk announcing siege warfare against the Muslims in Gaza. That is an age-old part of war, since the beginning of time; starving the enemy into submission. I also suspect that just announcing a plan in the future to cut off the Gaza Strip from all Israeli support might be enough to rein in these wild asses of men. Israel might declare that either the Ishmaelites in Gaza stop all homicidal aggression at the barrier and these rocket barrages, or Israel will cut off their food supply. They have a choice.

Of course, World AntiJewry would be outraged at us inhuman Jews for wanting to turn Gaza into a death camp, starve the people to death. But since that will be a lie, Israel will have to demolish it. Israel might even offer to contribute serious money to help evacuate these murderous Arabs, get them onto ships, and where they go afterward will be their business. That is not a death camp but an eviction of squatters on land that is legally and morally ours.

Also, heartwarming as a result of this latest eruption of bloodlust in these savage barbarians was the response to criticism of Prime Minister Netanyahu by Blue and White MK Ofer Shelach who said Bibi has no policy for Gaza.

Minister of Transportation Betzalel Smotrich said, "You are right that Netanyahu has no policy in Gaza. But the policy you propose is a thousand times more dangerous than his no policy. You want to crush Hamas and bring in Abbas and give him a state in Judea and Samaria and make this whole area -- which is twenty times the size of Gaza with topographical control over the entire center of the country, and turn it into one big Gaza."

So true. One of the features of the Oslo fantasy I never could understand is why it never occurred to the Oslo architect the impossibility of turning Judea and Samaria and Gaza into another sovereign state for the same reason one cannot take a one-gallon jerrycan into a gas station and pump into to two gallons. There is no for a second, truly sovereign state in Judea and Samaria, even if, G-d forbid, all of us Jews were driven out. The Arabs would never be content until they have everything the Jews have, for example, control of the aquifers under Judea and Samaria; control of the electromagnetic space for telecommunications; control of the air space itself for airline traffic. They have said they will build an international airport for a future Ancient Palestinian Airline.

The benefit of these periodic attempts to murder us like this have surely killed the fantasy of a Balestinian state in Jewish minds, even among the anti-religious, post-Jew lunatics in their fancy homes in the coastal plain. They are the last people whose homes are in sight of the hills of Samaria to want to see Hamas in control of these hills, which is what the two-state solution fantasy envisions.

And perhaps, God willing, there will be more Israelis like Gilad Sharon starting to rethink how we think about Gaza.

His father was a maverick whom I discovered for myself when the Oslo fantasy raised its ugly head. At that time, Sharon was out of power and wrote a weekly column in Yediot, and I was surprised at the quality of his writing and thinking. I also have read a number of autobiographies by Israeli war heroes like him and his is the most intelligent. And I must be unique among those of us who make our homes in Judea and Samaria who never hated him for the evacuation of Gaza. I thought he had no choice.

In 1994, Rabin, Peres and Beilin evacuated the IDF from the northern two-thirds of the Strip after which the southern third with its Jewish communities became indefensible. It was then that the Muslims began building homemade rockets and mortars to fire into Gush Katif, and there was nothing Israel could do short of re-occupying the Strip and destroying Oslo.

So, Arik surrendered, I think, to the military reality and called for, a strategic retreat; even the best of generals have to do that sometimes.

What I do hold him responsible for is not the evacuation but his surrender afterwards to the dejudaized IDF lawyers who warned him against a plan he had to strike back after the evacuation. They said it would be a war crime, meaning, I think, in their hearts and minds, the goyim wouldn't like it. I think Arik wanted what I thought made most sense; to line the barrier after the withdrawal with artillery, and for every projectile fired at random out of the Strip into Jewish communities, Israel would likewise fire artillery at random into their communities. And because our artillery would be much more effective and lethal, we could make sure our projectiles landed in the middle of the UNRWA camps and killed people at random, which would trigger a wave of worldwide antiJew indignation, to which Israel would reply, "We are doing exactly what they are doing. And if you don't like what we are doing, tell your beloved Balestinians to stop and we will stop."

Arik let the IDF's legal eagles talk him out of his plan, after which he had no answer to the violence. That is where I think he fell down; not in the evacuation which was made inevitable by the Oslo fools.

And now, to quote Monty Python, for "something completely different." Some thoughts on the continuing disintegration of America that began in the lunatic 1960s. And I do mean lunatic with the space race in that decade to get to the moon, symbol of lunacy from time immemorial.

In the 1960s, first the birth control pill destroyed civilized sexual morality. That led to a skyrocketing divorce rate and broken families, eventually to blessing abortion, and sexual perversion. That was the decade of Youth Culture glorifying drugs. In 1969, as we also saw the entry into the UN of the "Palestinians" and the corruption of that organization.

And this week we learned that San Francisco, whither streamed the knuckle-headed Flower Children in the Summer of Love in 1967, and after 1969 became an epicenter of sexual perversion. And now SF had just elected a new DA who is of the seed of that off-the-rails 60s generation at its worst, and in particular a community of radicals I had personally various brushes with.

The new DA is Chesa Boudin who vows to decriminalize living on sidewalks, evacuating on sidewalks, shop-lifting and prostitution. San Francisco like LA and Portland and Seattle maybe, literally stinks these days from the human waste in the streets, cover by needles discarded by junkies. Beautiful San Francisco of the Flower Children is becoming a Third World slum thanks to the worst political thinkers in society, the Left, radicals like Chesa Boudin and his biological mommy and daddy, Dave Gilbert and Kathy Boudin. The two of them tried in 1981 to rob a Brinks' truck, in the name of a communist rebellion in which a black security guard was murdered by them. She did 22 years in the slammer for that. Gilbert is still in the clink, probably never to get out.

Earlier, in 1969, Boudin had participated in an infamous antiwar riot in Chicago and was on the lam for that at the time.

I remember Dave Gilbert who was two years ahead of me at Columbia in the 1960s, one of the founders of the SDS chapter there, passionate speaker at demonstrations in '67 against the war in Viet Nam. He returned after graduation to rabble rouse. He graduated in '66 but returned for that and again to the campus in '68 to participate in the student rebellion that shook the country. I did not know him personally but did know his fellow members in the future so-called Weather Underground, including Teddy Gold who would lose his life in the infamous 1970 accidental explosion of a pricy townhouse in Greenwich Village, next to a townhouse recently purchased by the suddenly successful Hollywood actor Dustin Hoffman whose house I think was irreparably damaged in the blast.

I used to play touch football in Riverside Park with Teddy Gold, my classmate, who was raised a post-Jewish Communist. He and Kathy Boudin were in that townhouse working on a bomb to blow up the main administration building at Columbia, two years after the disturbances.

Boudin no less came from a fanatically communist line of Jews, her father being radical lawyer Leonard Boudin, related by marriage to communist agent of influence journalist I.F. Stone, whose nephew, coincidentally, was a friend of mine for a time.

I once met Leonard Boudin accidentally and mentioned someone we knew in common, a writer Boudin was thinking of hiring to write about his radical daughter, and when he asked me about myself, but before I could answer, he spat out, “Jewish, of course” with utter disdain.

In 1980, Boudin and Gilbert – who I assume was a Jew but don’t know for a fact -- had a baby, and after the Brink’s robbery. the baby 14-months-old was raised by Bill Ayres, Obama’s ghost writer they say, and Bernadine Dohrn, who also did time in prison for violent left-wing crimes, whose father was born Dohrnstein but whose her mother was a not a Jew. I crossed paths literally with her at Columbia during the student rebellion of May-April 1968.

And I am guessing that their baby was named Chesa after Joanne Chesimard, another radical activist, a black woman who murdered a state trooper in New Jersey in 1973, went to prison for it in 1977 but escaped in ’79 and made it to Cuba where she still lives.

So, there is a history to the new DA in San Francisco, a city for sure he will further help destroy, another leftist, legally a Jew, but otherwise 100% not a Jew.

These post-Jewish Leftists, like the Boudins, like Gilbert, like Bernie Sanders and Teddy Gold, are agents of destruction.
